

1700 Drowned At Chicago

WEALTHY WEEP WITH POOR, CITY MOURNS; SURVIVORS RELATE TALES OF HORROR

Chicago, July 24.—Tens of thousands of people—men, women and children—rich and poor alike lined Chicago's water front all today.

Tens of thousands of rich and poor wept as the giant pile of lifeless bodies grew.

Many of these thousands had dear ones on board the steamer Eastland which turned turtle in the Chicago river this morning. There were congregated outside of the safety lines drawn by police relatives of the poor and the wealthy.

There was little difference in their standing this morning. They were all mourners—they wept upon each others shoulders, they screamed together as the stretchers, miles and miles of them, were brought up and their freight of bodies placed side by side.

Thousands of these mourners fought to get near enough to this "city of the dead" to learn whether their loved ones were among them.

And this afternoon America's second city is in mourning. Business in many sections has been suspended, everything has been forgotten except the care of the survivors of Chicago's greatest marine disaster.

Survivors, half crazed from their experience, move among these tens of thousands and tell graphic tales of the Eastland's sinking, some of which are told below:

Chicago, July 24.—Captain Harry Pedersen, 57 years old, of Benton Harbor, Michigan, who was about ready to pull out when I noticed the boat begin to list. I shouted orders to open the gangways nearest the deck and give the people a chance to get out. The boat continued to reel and shortly afterwards the hawsers broke and the steamer turned over on its side and was drifting toward the middle of the river. When she went over I jumped and held on to the upper side. "It all happened in two minutes. The cause is a mystery to me. I have sailed the lakes for 25 years and previous to that sailed on salt water twelve years, and this is the first serious accident I ever had. I do not know how it happened."

Stewart Jumps In, Saves Three Women

Chief Steward Albert Wycoff said: "I was in the lunch room on the main deck when I noticed the boat begin to list. Dishes fell out of the rack and a scene of wild excitement followed. I shouted for the people to save themselves. A moment later I jumped into the water and managed to rescue three women."

Eye Witness Declares All Were Panic Stricken

L. D. Gador, employed as a "city butcher" on the steamer, was the first eye witness to tell a detailed story of the accident.

It was about 7:40 this morning and the boat was lying at the dock near Clark street bridge loaded with passengers," said Gador. "We were to leave in twenty minutes and the upper deck and cabins were crowded with passengers. There were hundreds of women and children. I believe that there were between two and three thousand on the boat at the time of the accident. I was standing on the tower deck near the gang plank watching the people come aboard. Suddenly I noticed the boat list towards the center of the river. It rolled slightly at first and then seemed to stop. Then it started to roll again. I became alarmed and shouted to the crowd to keep still. Apparently a majority of the passengers were on one side of the boat and this had overweighted it and caused it to list. Suddenly the hawsers which held the boat to the dock snapped and the officers pulled the gang plank in and refused to allow any more on the boat.

"At this time everybody was panic stricken. Women screamed and men tried to quiet them. I attempted to reach an upper deck but could not because of the crowd and excitement and ran back to the port side where the gangway had been. The boat then slowly drifted from the dock, rolling as it slipped into midstream and a moment later it had turned over on its side. I climbed over on the side of the boat and stayed there until I was taken off by life savers. Many of the passengers leaped into the water as the boat went over. Scores of others were caught in the cabins and drowned. When the small boats began coming out to us I worked with other survivors in taking passengers out of the water and cutting holes in the cabins to remove bodies."

Mother Of Three Babies Is Among The Drowned

Mrs. Paul Iva Vantak, the mother of three children was among the drowned. Her children were believed to have been lost.

Henry Vantak, the woman's husband, was pulled out of the water.

"I could not believe the boat was turning over," Vantak said. "About a dozen of the 150 persons on the upper decks jumped. The rest were thrown into the river."

BIG EXCURSION STEAMER, 2,500 ON BOARD, SINKS

CHICAGO, July 24 - At 2:40 o'clock this afternoon coroner Hoffman estimated the number of dead at 1,300. First deputy chief of police Scheutler estimated dead at 1,700.

Chicago, July 24---Probably 1,700 persons were drowned in the Chicago river today by the capsizing at the wharf of the steamer Eastland.

Loaded with 2,500 excursionists, employees of the Western Electric Company and their families the steel steamer capsized. Six hours after the accident the police had checked more than 679 bodies as recovered and estimates were that perhaps 1,700 men, women and children had perished. Others placed the number as even higher but evidence to substantiate such figures was lacking. Scores who escaped drowning were hurt in the panic that marked the disaster.

City, state and federal officials worked to learn the cause of the disaster, to recover bodies of victims, to trace missing persons, and aid the injured. In this they were assisted by every agency that the city could summon, hospitals, mercantile concerns, physicians, churches and organized charities lending their organizations or experience to the work.

The crowding of passengers to one side of the boat is supposed to have caused the tragedy but authorities, not satisfied with this explanation, ordered the arrest of officers of the boat and Captain Harry Pedersen and Dell Fisher, first mate were taken to police station.

For the first two hours attempts were made to revive every person taken from the wreck. Then as the hopelessness of resuscitating later victims became apparent, divers were summoned to explore the depths of the boat. Equipped with ropes they groped their way into the innermost recesses of the hull. Every other minute their assistants were signalled to "pull" and another victim was added to the numbered dead. It was the results of the divers' work that caused the coroner and police estimates to count above 1,000.

Police and fire tugs organized the river craft into a rescue fleet. Boats were directed to cruise down the river and watch for bodies and the sanitary canal trustees were asked to close the dam at Lockport, Ill., thus shutting off the current of the river, in order to aid in this work.

Rumors of the disaster spread rapidly. Its full significance was realized when motor trucks, piled high with blanketed forms, rolled through the loop district to morgues and undertaking establishments.

The American and Federal leagues baseball games were called off, many theatres announced that their doors would be closed tonight and churches summoned their members to pray for the dead.

Deputy Coroner David Jones and Sheriff John E. Traeger, of Cook county, who are directing the work of removing bodies from the hull of the Eastland, stated that from reports of the bodies still within the hull they feared the 1st of dead would reach 1,200 and might reach 1,500.

At 2 o'clock a tabulation of known dead at ten morgues showed a total of 679. Of these 505 were at an emergency Red Cross station in the warehouse of Reid, Murdoch and Co. This count was announced by Dr. E. J. Buchan, physician in charge. Other morgues had received from seven to 40 each.

A few hours inquiry caused investigating officials to lean strongly toward the theory that the peculiar construction of the boat was responsible for the accident. The Eastland was equipped with water ballast so that it could enter the harbor of South Haven, Michigan, and other shallow ports and river mouths. When approaching such entries the water would be forced from the

STEAMER EASTLAND FIGURED IN SEVERAL MINOR MISHAPS

Cleveland, July 24.—The steamer Eastland which sank at Chicago today was owned here for five years, operating between this city and Cedar Point, near Sandusky, Ohio and also moonlighting on the lake during which time it was concerned in several accidents but none was ever attended by loss of life. On one occasion with a heavy passenger list the Eastland ran against the breakwater while trying to make this harbor in a fog late at night and was fast until the next day, being considerably damaged, and causing much fright among the excursionists aboard. On two occasions she ran on the beach at Cedar Point. The boat was built high in the water and operated with screws, differing in this respect from the paddle wheel system which is in use on most of the passenger ships which traverse the lakes. These facts were blamed by many who patronized the ship for the difficulty with which it was navigated at times. State rooms were torn out at one time to make the boat less top heavy and heavy ballast was added to assist in safeguarding it. While here the Eastland was owned by the Eastland Navigation company which consisted chiefly of city hall employees during the administration of the late Tom Johnson. At the time of the sale of the boat a year ago last spring to the present Chicago owners there were $130,000 in bonds of the company outstanding. These were owned by the Depositors' Savings and Trust company to former Tom L. Johnson, which liquidated.

WATER FRONT LIKE CITY OF THE DEAD; MANY PERISH LIKE RATS IN A TRAP

Chicago, July 24.—Chicago has never witnessed a sight similar to the immediate aftermath of the Eastland disaster today.

The entire water front has been turned into a city of the dead and dying. Business in the giant commission district was halted immediately when news of the Eastland's turning over reached it.

The 2500 passengers had no chance to escape, so quick was the listing and turning of the big steamer, and many of them died like rats in a trap.

Panic struck the passengers when the boat began to turn over. Best accounts of witnesses said the steamer rolled slightly twice then turned further and that hundreds of screaming, struggling men, women and children slid across the sloping decks, fought for room and clutched at companions, deck chairs, or any other object that came to hand.

Bodies Are Bruised. Women and children by the hundreds were caught below decks and the scratched faces, torn clothing and bruised bodies of the dead bore mute evidence of the desperation with which they had fought for life.

The steamer turned over in less than five minutes. Members of the crew shouted warnings as the steamer first tilted and endeavored to drive the passengers to the upper side of the deck, but the incline was already too steep. Slowly, as if to agonize the spectators drawn to the scene by the shouts of warning and fear, the great steel hulk turned bottom up, pitching its passengers into the river.

Screams Rend Air. Screams of the Eastland victims halted this rush and the Clark street bridge was jammed with people until police, fearful that the structure would collapse, ordered it cleared. Mercantile concerns hurried motor trucks to the scene laden with blankets to warm the living or cover the dead. Pulk motors by the score were sent to the dock.

Physicians, police, firemen, government life savers and nurses were summoned. The steamer when relieved of its passengers floated on its side into midstream, and tugs, motor boats and other river craft swarmed about it. Firemen climbed on the hull, forced openings in the steel hull and through these searched the cabins for possible victims.

Robert H. McCreary, chief of the Marine Bureau of Customs of the federal building was present at the dock from 6:45 o'clock this morning with two of his steamboat navigation inspectors. He declared that the exact number of persons on the boat was 2,500; that the boat was not overloaded; and that "the passengers could not have been more accurately counted if they had known there would be an accident."

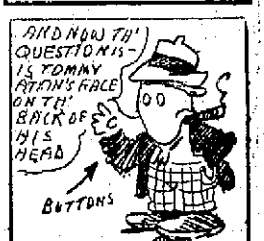

W. K. Greenbaum, manager of the Indiana Transportation Co., who is in Chicago for the excursion said: "We had chartered five steamers for the excursion of the Western Electric Company's employees to Michigan City, Indiana, today. We had the steamers Eastland, Petoskey, The Theodore Roosevelt, Racine and Maywood.

2500 On Board. "The Eastland was the first boat to load and the docks were crowded with passengers who were to be taken on the other boats nearby. One United States steamboat inspector and two assistants watched the Eastland load. They stood at the gang plank and counted the passengers as they went aboard. Their report shows there were 2,500 passengers on the Eastland, its full capacity under the United States steamboat regulations. I have no idea how the accident occurred."

The steamer Eastland was built in 1903 and owned by the Eastland Navigation Company, of Cleveland. It was 265 feet long, 38 feet wide and had a draft of

Mr. Geo. D. Scudder Presents Pennant To The Scout Team

The Tigers, champions of the 1914 race in the Boy Scout League, received their much coveted pennant for 1914 Saturday afternoon, after going down to defeat in the first game of a double-header by the score of 9 to 1, the fast Athletics being on the long end of the game. Hudson, star twirler for the Tigers, was outpitched by his opponent, Monk. George D. Scudder, president of the local council of Boy Scouts, was presented by the champion with the beautiful orange and black pennant. Immediately after the game the Tigers lined up back of the pitcher's box and Mr. Scudder faced them in delivering his presentation speech, in which he complimented the boys on their splendid record and advised them to go ahead with the same spirit as that with which they worked in winning the pennant.

Company K Will Leave Tomorrow

With a full recruited company 65 strong headed by Capt. J. W. Smith, First Lieutenant Joseph Horelow and Second Lieutenant W. H. Harsha Company K will leave Sunday morning for Camp Willis, near Yellow Springs, O., where the state O. N. Encampment will be held the next eight days. The Ironton company will join the K boys here and will share a baggage car with them. Company K was recently equipped with new uniforms throughout and will go to the encampment in fine shape.

Suspects In The Dr. Allard Robbery Held To Grand Jury

Everitt Roberts, whom Officer Calahan Smith captured at Ironton Friday night and his half-brother, Walter Barber, were held to the grand jury Saturday for alleged stealing cuff links belonging to Dr. L. D. Allard and which were valued at $35. Their bonds were fixed at $200 each.

The police claim to have wrested an admission from Barber, who is a colored painter, that in Roberts they also had the fellow who snatched a purse of $17 from the hands of Mrs. Charles F. Turner, while she was seated on the front porch of her home on Ninth street one night last week.

Roberts was suspected of the Turner robbery from the beginning for he has done time for similar offenses. When caught at Ironton he had 30 cents and a clasp the pin in his possession. Barber made conflicting statements as to how he came to the cuff buttons. He had told Officer Smith that they had been given to him by a man at Piketon while

PAY DAY

Employees of the Dravo Contracting company, Rinehart and Dennis and the W. H. H. Allen Construction company, who are doing most of the work for the C. & O. extension from Sciotoville to Columbus were paid off Saturday. A handsome sum was distributed among them. Saturday was also pay day with the hundreds of employees of the Whitaker-Glessner company and business in the retail field tonight should be unusually lively.

Took The Wrong Horse And Buggy

Shortly after receiving reports that a horse and buggy were stolen from Market street, police found a well dressed young man asleep in a buggy at Freund's drug store Saturday afternoon and took him to headquarters. The young man gave his name as Adams and after some questioning he was released. U. S. Dillow, a farmer living between Schultz and White Oak, Ky., recognized the horse and buggy as his own and for which he had been searching a couple of hours. He overtook the outfit and leaping into the buggy took charge at the same time hailing Officer Henderson. The policeman said he recognized the stranger as Nevill Brown, a former Adams county, now of New Boston and he finally said this was his name. Henderson communicated with headquarters and after considerable wrangling it was decided that Brown had been drinking and took the outfit by mistake, he having hired a horse and buggy from Farmer's livery barn in New Boston. He was finally permitted to go his way.

Wants N. & W. To Take Up The Chase After "High Yaller"

Chief W. T. McCarty has practically decided to cease his efforts to capture Henry Glenn, alias "High Yaller," alleged gun-man in the Bagnus murder case, and will ask the high officials of the N. & W. to undertake the task. He has spent considerable of his own personal money in running down clues and feels he can not do so any longer. He will suggest that the reward be materially increased. The present reward is $400, of which the county commissioners offered $300 and the Dublin-Felts Detective Agency $100. The impression that Glenn is light colored, because of his nickname, is erroneous. He is very dark skinned.

After being bound over to the grand jury by Squire Finney, John Ivan, William Isaac and Jacob Hill were released on their own recognizance Thursday evening. They were charged with an alleged assault on Leslie Johnson.

COUNTY REDISTRICTED BY EDUCATIONAL BOARD

The Sciotoville Board of Education met Friday night at the school house. Under the new law the county board of education may assign a number of teachers in the county not to exceed forty under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. The Sciotoville Board of Education petitioned the county board of education to place their school under the direct supervision of the county superintendent, thus exempting them from district supervision. The county board of education in session at the office of the county superintendent Saturday unanimously granted the request. This will mean a saving of approximately more than $250 and they will still have very efficient supervision.

The county board of education met at the office of the county superintendent, Saturday, to re-district the county into supervision districts in accordance with instructions from the State Department of Public Instruction and in accordance with the spirit of the new school law and the apparent demand of popular sentiment. Under the school code as it existed last year there could not be more than sixty teachers to a district superintendent. Under that law four district superintendents for Scioto county seemed to be about the number demanded by the spirit of the law. Under the new law the maximum number of teachers that may be assigned to a district superintendent is not limited, and not to exceed forty teachers in the county may be assigned to the county board of education to be under the direct supervision of the county superintendent.

The county board in its session Saturday re-districted the county as follows: Districts No. 1 and 3 were combined into one district as a new district No. 1; districts No. 3 and 4 were combined into one, new district No. 2. The schools of Sciotoville, South Webster, Otway, Rarden, and Buena Vista were assigned to the direct supervision of the county superintendent with a total of thirty teachers. This gives the county superintendent the work of supervision over as many teachers as was given by one of the district superintendents last year. This is in addition to all other duties of the county superintendent. This assignment exempts the five places named from the cost of district supervision which saves approximately $1200. Wheelersburg and Lucasville, having First Grade High Schools, were also exempted by the county board.

Hundreds Of People Attended Opening Of Idlewild Addition

Hundreds of people, Saturday afternoon, took advantage of the opportunity to visit "Idlewild," the largest building addition ever opened in this part of the country, containing upwards of 235 lots. The addition, which is owned by Messrs. L. C. Turley and Alan N. Jordan, is an ideal place for homes, and the owners anticipate but little trouble in disposing of every lot. The people who visited this suburban spot Saturday afternoon were shown about the place by Messrs. Turley and Jordan, and they found that everything had come up to expectations and exactly as advertised. Free street car fare was provided to Idlewild, the street car company placing five big summer cars at the disposal of Messrs. Turley and Jordan.

Idlewild contains paved streets and sanitary and storm sewers. Water mains have been run, and those who build thereon will have all the advantages afforded by a city. Messrs. Turley and Jordan expect to be on the grounds Sunday, when it is thought thousands of people will view the addition. T. J. Bushman has already purchased several lots, showing that he has plenty of faith in Idlewild.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Workman of Ninth street, are the proud parents of a fine little son who arrived at their home Saturday morning.

Mrs. Sarah McDaniels, 704 John street, suffered a stroke of paralysis on her right side Friday, and for a time was in a serious condition but she was slightly improved Saturday.

Complain of Loafers

Some of the business men of Wholesale Row on Front street, are complaining bitterly about loafers congregating on the flood wall and remaining for hours at nights.

Says He Was In Bad Company

Emory Harr admitted in police court Saturday that he was with Howard York when the latter was alleged to have stolen a $125 lavalliere from W. M. Yankey's repair shop on Gay street and he was held to the grand jury in the sum of $200.

York has never been apprehended. Charles Larkins was ordered held as a witness. The lavalliere was returned by him to its owner, Mrs. Chester Wallace.

"PRIDE," —that is not Vainglorious

PRIDE in perfecting the Product.
Pride in Achievement won, step by step, through frank and fair means only.
Pride in the maintenance of a high standard of Quality—in a reputation for Reliability—DEPENDABILITY—and "the Square Deal" at all times.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. has been making history in the Rubber Industry, for more than 45 years.

It has always been the Leader! It has almost never had a "Boom," or the reaction that follows Boom.

It has been Conservative in all its moves—never Experimenting at its Customers' Expense, yet never lagging behind first place in the Procession.

It has been the Pioneer in nearly all great Improvements made in the Working of Rubber.

And, it has grown steadily, surely, as well as stupendously, until the largest Rubber Factory in the World today, is that of The B. F. Goodrich Co. at Akron, O.

The Operations of this Factory require, and utilize, more than 75 Acres of Floor Space, and The B. F. Goodrich Co. frequently employs more than 15,000 people.

NO other Rubber Factory in the World buys so much Crude Rubber, manufacturing as it does more than 90,000,000 lbs. of Rubber Goods yearly.

It pays one-sixth of all the Taxes in the City of Akron, which City has 15 other Rubber Concerns, and more than 100,000 Population.

Some of its "White Anchor" Fire Hose, made way back in 1884 (30 years ago), is still doing good service, because of the Precision Principle and Quality Ambition that lie behind all Goodrich Co. products.

Every day in the year, on average, the operations of The B. F. Goodrich Co. result in its receiving more than 30,000 pieces of Mail, and more than 350 Telegrams.

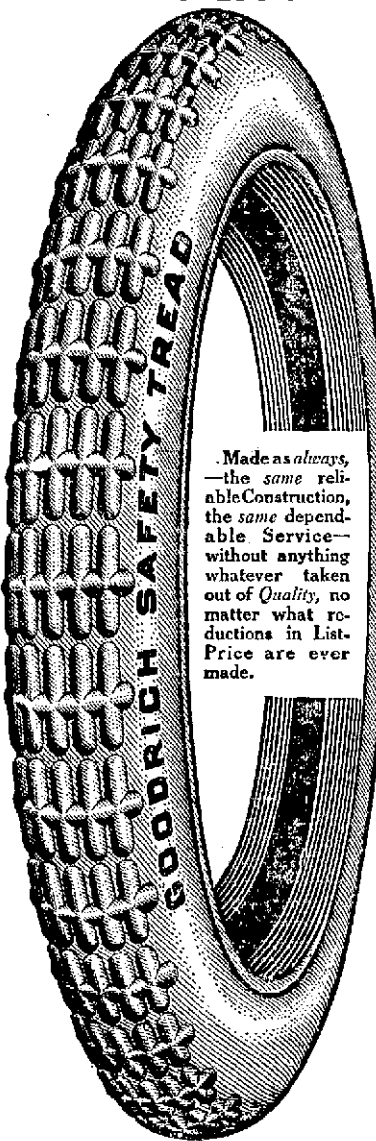

It manufactures 284 Classes of Rubber Goods.

Some of these Classes subdivide into large businesses.

Thus it makes 100 kinds of Rubber Hose, 11 kinds of Rubber Tubing, 8 kinds of Insulated and other wire, etc.

Every day, on average, The B. F. Goodrich Company Factory manufactures:

- 60 Miles of Insulated Wire.
- 14 Miles of Rubber Hose.
- 5 Miles of Rubber Belting.

Made as always, —the same reliable Construction, the same dependable Service—without anything whatever taken out of Quality, no matter what reductions in List-Price are ever made.

All this in addition to its other Departments and the 21 kinds of Rubber Tires it makes exclusive of the "Goodrich Safety" Tread Auto Tire.

THIS Volume of Rubber Buying, Manufacturing and Selling, with the corresponding reduction of Overhead Expense when divided over so many classes, is what gives to the Goodrich Factory the lowest Cost for Tire Manufacturing of the highest Grade.

The Responsibility to so many lines of Dealers and Consumers, in so many lines of Trade, is what makes it so zealous in guarding the Quality and Value of each Product that bears the Goodrich name—so slow to launch new things until thoroughly tested—so keen to make Success sure and continuous, rather than dramatic and transient.

And of all these Goodrich Products, that which best expresses the measure of our capacity, our Experience and Good-faith is the Goodrich Safety-Tread Tire.

It does this through giving the greatest Mileage and Resilience in the field, at the fairest Cost, per Mile, to Users.

WHEN you Test these Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, and compare with others of considerably higher price, you will then understand our Pride in Goodrich Standards and Ideals.

—A pride which results in Goodrich Tires being made better each year than they have ever been, and improved with each month's output.

The Goodrich Safety-Tread Tire today gives more Mileage than our own (or any other) plain-Tread Tire, with only about 5% more Cost to us and about 5% more price to you than that of our Plain Tread.

This, in line with Goodrich Co. Policy—which is to base its charges only on its low Manufacturing Cost, no matter how much more price could be obtained for the greater efficiency it develops from same materials.

Pride which results in this, concerns YOUR Pocketbook.

SIMPLE ENOUGH.

In discussing safety from lightning stroke up in Jackson county, they have brought out the fact that fewer women die from electric stroke than men. This may seem odd, but the explanation of it is simple enough. The chances of a person being killed by lightning is not so great as one in a hundred million—sufficient reasons why one should not take a fright every time she sees a flash of light current in the summer night. More men die from Jove's bolts because they wander abroad more and in storm seek shelter from the rain in locations liable to be hit places like barns and trees, for instance, while women, as a rule, are in doors. If when one is caught in the harvest field or along the highway in a rain he would plod along and not drive under shed or tree, more especially the latter, and above all keep away, when seeking a dry place, chance of being hit by lightning would be so small as to not be worth giving thought to. This is clearly enough demonstrated, that it is quite common to read of cattle being killed during an electric storm. For the reason is stock always seeks the shelter of a tree. The sweat and gases from their bodies, distinctly so on a warm day, are conductors of electricity and their drawing powers as such enhanced by the tree being the highest object in the adjacent landscape.

BOSH AND BACON.

The boiler plate section of the G. O. P. press is making a lovely talk about our good young governor staying at home from the exposition because a high sense of public office makes him set duty above pleasure. Oh, such stuff! The good young governor is staying at home because he thinks his own bacon can best be saved by getting Democrats out of the offices and parceling out the latter to some old chums and college mates from Ada; and on top of that he knows a bull in a china shop would not be a circumstance to Jack Arnold left to rampage around in the governor's office for a brief spell.

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

Compiling the list of bids for highway improvements in many Ohio counties we observe that for two and half miles of brick road in Scioto the lowest bid is $44,000, while in Stark for the same length, the lowest is $58,000. That is a total difference of $14,000, almost $5,000 to the mile in favor of Scioto.

Great as that is, though, it is not all of the advantage to Scioto county. The chances are far and away that she will get the best brick, made right here at home, getting profit at that, and also better work as observation and experience have taught both officials and people what is the proper way and specifications upon which to lay vitrified brick.

Just in passing, there isn't a daintier spot in the land, and that means the world, than that Munn's Run, up which the proposed brick road is to take its way, and the charm thereof will be enhanced by a smooth, hard driveway. Turning to the practical side, that same driveway is going to make the Run the garden spot of Scioto county.

Say, after all, it's a blessed thing to have your lines rust in Scioto county!

An interesting personality passed from the stage of life the other day when death claimed John Cotton Haskell Cobb, aged 82, of Wellston. He was a son-in-law of Hon. H. K. Bundy and a brother-in-law of Harvey Wells and like them was actively identified with the growth of Wellston. Mr. Cobb was a man who took a deep interest in civic affairs in his home town. He was ever ready to lend his time and his services towards correcting municipal abuses, bringing suits at his own expense, writing cards to the papers and leading forth hopes at elections. The certainty that Mr. Cobb was on the alert had a wholesome effect upon those not inclined to walk in the straight and narrow path and had a most beneficial effect upon his community. Men of Mr. Cobb's courage and persistency in fighting wrong doing are rather rare and his passing is a loss not only to his own community but to those who believe in good citizenship and faithful public service in all communities.

By the way, we don't hear Service Director Gergens making any noise. He is too busy seeing that the work of his office is industriously and thoroughly done to be making any noises. And at that, as things go these days, he's a pretty fortunate man in having two such intelligent and capable assistants as Foley and Thuman.

It has turned out just as we said, and we are no prophet either. Our good young Governor is very deeply perturbed over the state auditor saying his administration will cost four millions more for the first year than did Jim Cox's, and he hates to yell and yell because the wicked and crafty Democrat left a raft of old bills for him to pay. The defense is good as an ingenious excuse, but it lacks the essential basis of truth.

He who runs away lives to fight another day. True, but the Russians appear to be carrying the suggestion too far, in more ways than one at that.

The G. O. P. organs tell in one paragraph that Democratic free trade is ruining the country by bringing in foreign competition, and in the very next insist not an article of manufacture has been reduced by "free trade." Do they actually take the people to be such fools as to swallow both in rapid "communion."

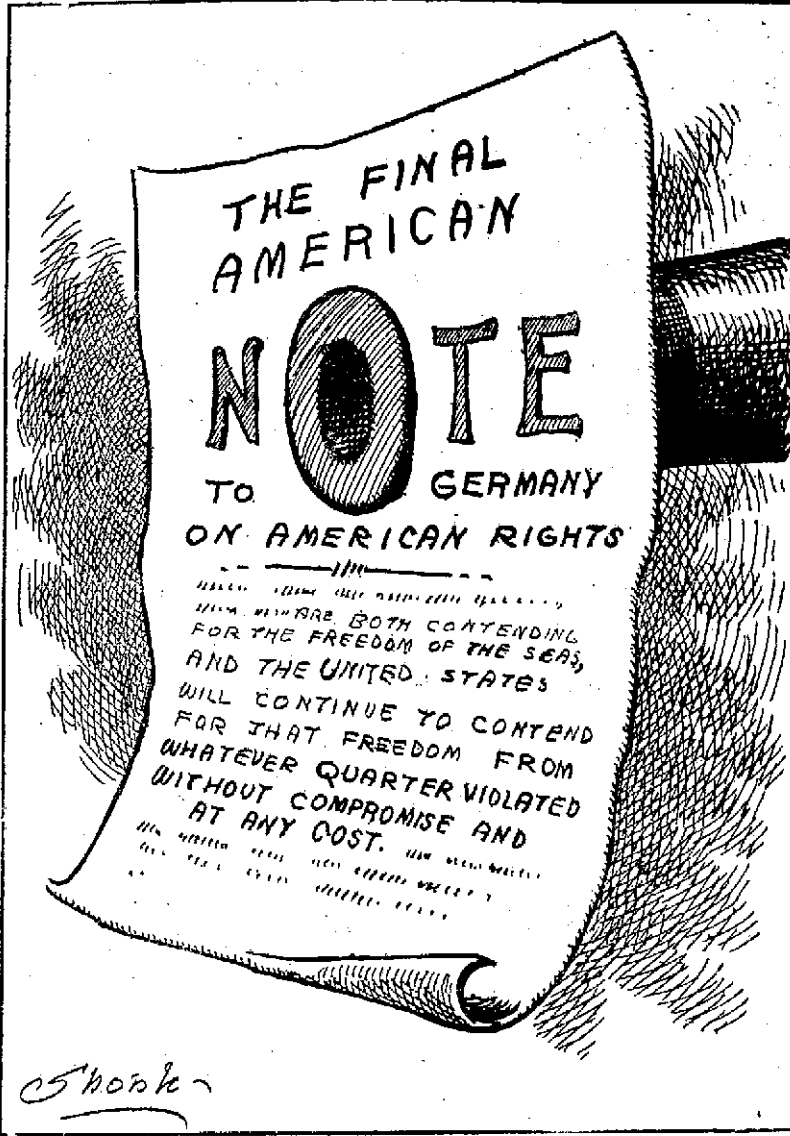

Bandits want to kidnap Prophet Smith, head of the Mormon church, and the police are trying to prevent them from so doing. The question is, what does either contingent want with him?

The temporary bridge across the Scioto is going to be rebuilt, which just reminds us that that bridge is the temporary temporary thing we ever knew.

Corranza gives decree forth that he is the government of Mexico. Before he can convince any one of that he will have first to show that he knows what a government is.

We are told "the new water works have been a successful operation since November 4th last," but as a matter of fact it has been barely possible to keep them going. We don't know of anything that statement reminds us so much of as that Gallia pike is navigable through New Boston.

Really, a most delightful climate, in streaks.

JUST AS EASY.

It was "cute" in Harry Bannan to call upon the other fellows to pledge themselves and their men to support the ticket, as he and his had already done. It gave the impression the various camps were ripe with treason ready to break forth in insurrection if the mayoralty fight did not come out to the particular fancy of each. But there is nothing in his artifice, as a matter of fact. The would-be bosses, camp followers, office expecters, and outlers, that ever attack themselves to any political enterprise, are ready and enthusiastic to make any pledge before hand and vow regularity is particularly to their hand. Strange, though, with all this being true, that such consternation could be wrought by the Bannan ruse. It just shows that the politicians are too busy intent on deceiving others that they are regular "suckers" themselves.

The appointment of Mr. C. K. Patterson, of Pikeston, as a member of the new state board of agriculture, is one that will meet with general approval in Southern Ohio, where Mr. Patterson is recognized as one of the best posted men on agricultural problems in the state. He is alert and active and he should make a most excellent member. The Times joins with other friends of Mr. Patterson in congratulating him upon his selection and we wish him all kinds of success.

Up at Ironton an automobile club has a system of taking the bull by the horns and taking care of bad stretches of roads on its own account. Apparently they have commissioners up there who refuse to aid in keeping county roads in passable shape and so the automobile club steps in and does what the county ought to do. Thus the auto club has employed men to fix up a stretch of road leading from Coal Grove to new state aid road, the stretch being through the narrows east of Coal Grove. All of the ruts will be taken care of and whatever else is necessary to improve the roadway will be done.

There is a good idea in that for Portsmouth. Why not some of our organizations get together and employ a man whose sole duty it will be to look after our temporary roads and whenever he finds a rut coming, fix it up. One man working steadily can keep all of our temporary roads in good shape.

Now what do you think of this? Doe Hoy, of Wellston, has been engaged by the Kelpath Chautauqua Company to fill cancelled dates of lectures on its staff. Doe has already made one speech at East Liverpool. This march can be said of Doe. The first two hours of his speeches are generally pretty interesting. After that most people begin to get a little weary.

As long as John Eckhart had hopes Harry Bannan would get him that job at the penitentiary, it was really lovely to see the two hobnobbing together, with young Doe Sellards' beaming approval, but now that hope is vanished we find John returned to his old love, and say, the things he thinks.

On form George Osburn's literary bureau ought to win, but we have ever noted that Kultur, except of the strong arm and something green, doesn't get any votes into the ballot box at a game and anti-gang primary.

It is said William Billy Gius and, ah yes, Nate, of course, are talking of hiring one of their literary fellows to write something nice about them too.

A Chicago man is said to have turned down a salary offer of a quarter of a million dollars a year. Place the accent on Chicago and see if you believe it.

Don't talk to us about there being nothing new under the sun. Jackson is threatened with a new enterprise and there must be such a thing for her or else why the threat.

The Road wall bonds have been authorized, but that doesn't mean a Road wall, not this year at least.

All things come to an end. The final vouchers for the bills for constructing the addition to the local postoffice were signed this week, denoting that the government writes the word finis on the contract, under which work was begun three years ago, come August.

New York, July 24.—Young D. W. Griffith who is to moving picture productions what Edison is to the world of inventions is getting ready to write, stage, and produce another moving picture marvel as yet unnamed. Griffith comes out of the west—a breath from the prairie—and he is not heckled or bound by any conventions.

One can imagine the producer comfortably ensconced in a deep sea going chair at a mahogany topped desk dictating his plots and ideas to a stenographer on the top floor of one of the mammoth hotels. One can imagine it for his publicity men say he makes $100,000 a year so that means that he makes about $30,000 or as Joe Weber would say in the old days $30,916 in round numbers.

Griffith does nothing of the kind. When he has an itching to write he goes out for a long walk, armed with plenty of pencils and paper, and when he cannot walk any more he drops into the back room of some little corner saloon. Then he orders a magnum of champagne and he begins to write.

Like O. Henry's stories this one has a kick in the last line and here it is—He does not touch the champagne.

John Pratt, now war correspondent for the Times in France, was with Henry Beach Needham the night before the writer was killed by a fall from an army aeroplane. Needham's friends had begged him to stay on the ground but he replied laughing: "I want to go up in the air in an aeroplane so I can get the atmosphere."

At one of the summer musical shows the other night a young woman—at least she looked young back of the cosmetics—received a $700 floral offering which was so beautiful that the stage manager kept it on the stage during the entire performance.

The gift was about four feet square as to platform and about eight feet high as to plant. Hundreds of the most expensive flowers were used to make it up. The girl who received it shrugged her shoulders and said it was "awfully pretty."

New Wayburn, who knows the chorus girl better than most stage managers, declares that many of the chorus beauties are even disdainful of the principals and stars in the production, considering them beneath their notice. The Stage Door Johnny is not dead. Automobiles, flowers and the sons of millionaires wait at the stage doors for the pretty chorus girls just as much now as they ever did.

Eddie Wallace Dunn, who senters publicity about Newspaper Row for George M. Cohan, was standing in the lobby of the Cohan theatre the other night when a fellow with what Broadway terms a "fine young blaze" listed in to the ticket window.

"We have only standing room left," he was told. "It will cost you a dollar."

The wobbly person bought the ticket and disappeared. There were a lot of "standing room" spectators and it was almost impossible to see any of the show. After dodging around a bit, he went over and leaned against the balustrade in deep reflection.

Then he staggered back out in the lobby to the ticket window. "Gimme another one of them standin' rooms," he requested. "I can't see a thing with jes one."

Charles Emerson Cook, long connected with the Belasco forces is now living in Arizona where he is the proprietor of stock companies. He is also interested in some oil wells and says that he is through with Broadway. The wild and woolly appeals to him as being about right.

If We Only Understood
If we knew the cares and trials,
Knew the efforts all in vain,
And the bitter disappointment,
Understood the loss and gain—
Would the grim eternal roughness
Seem—I wonder—just the same?
Should we help where now we hinder?
Should we pity where we blame?

Ah! we judge each other harshly.
Knowing not life's hidden force—
Knowing not the fount of action
Is less turbid as its source;
Serving not amid the evil
All the golden grains of good;
And we'd love each other better
If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives
That surround each other's lives,
See the naked heart and spirit,
Know what spur the action gives,
Often we would find it better,
Purer than we judge we should,
We would love each other better
If we only understood.

Who Wants to Buy a Little Devil?
Some people do not believe in devils, but there are such things, and one of them, a very mischievous one, got into a folding bed with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Erwood at Huntington the other night. He kept quiet until Mr. Erwood decided to get up at six o'clock the next morning, and then got busy. He twice pushed it was a devil! pushed that folding bed together, with Mr. and Mrs. Erwood upside down, or rather feet up and head down. Both the prisoners yelled lustily for help but none came. After an hour the woman in the bed extricated herself and then freed her husband, discussing the nasty little devil. But we understand both husband and wife have taken a violent antipathy to that harmless folding bed and absolutely refuse to sleep in it again. One of the Huntington papers says the bed is for sale, and we presume the little devil goes with it.—Gallop-Tribune.

EYE INJURIES FROM ALKALIES.

(Journal of The American Medical Association)

The daily papers and magazines of the past two years, at home and abroad, have contained numerous instances of more or less serious injuries to the eyes from the explosion of the central rubber bags of some sorts of golf balls, filled with strong solutions of alkalis. Popular attention being in this way drawn to the dangers from alkalis in golf balls, it is well worth recalling the possibility of injuries to the eye from other forms of alkalis.

A boy was busy whitewashing his father's fence when another boy came along and they began to talk together as boys will talk; from talk it was not far to juying and sport, then came pulling and hauling. In the final struggle for the control of the brush, the friendly boy slapped the brush into the working boy's face, in so abundant a fashion that the lime in the whitewash entered one of the eyes and injured it for life, leaving a scar which neither medicine, operation nor treatment can get rid of.

Another injury recently reported is one not so likely to happen to any boy. A boy was so anxious to have his face clean and presentable at dinner that he made up a thick lather and then so completely enveloped his neck, head and face with it that some entered the eyes, burning the eye-balls so that the boy was hardly able to see at all. This boy is injured for life owing to his own thoughtlessness. If he or his parents had attended any public health lectures on the care of the eyes, they would have understood the risks of using strong alkalis near the eyes in any fashion.

THE LATE MR. BRYAN.

(From Judge)

Without laying claim to erudition in the prophet business, we advise against undue haste on the part of journalistic undertakers because William Jennings Bryan is announced to be "politically dead." Indeed, to those who most long for Mr. Bryan's political demise, the announcement that he "had killed himself" by his attitude on Peace must have been a source of horrid uneasiness. Let us retrospect a bit.

Since Mr. Bryan first killed himself politically, he has run for President twice, and dictated a Presidential nomination once. The obsequies attending his demise in 1896 were affecting, but not effective. His second political death occurred four years later, in 1900, and the funeral arrangements were elaborate and imposing. In 1904, Mr. Bryan, bowing to the superior judgment of sundry funeral directors, consented to stay politically dead while a "live one," the Hon. Alton B. Parker, entered the presidential lists and scattered the funeral gloom which enshrouded the Democratic party. Let memory suffice. In 1908, the hearse again drew up for Mr. Bryan, and the pall-bearers did their duty with light hearts and willing hands. Thrice dead and buried was Mr. Bryan when he went to the Baltimore convention in 1912. Thrice dead and buried when he made the Democratic machine, "at last emancipated from the taint of Bryanism," jump through a hoop at the crack of his whip, and consent to the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President.

And now Mr. Bryan is "politically dead" again; this time a case of "suicide." The hearse is out; the plumes are nodding on the horses' heads; the pall-bearers are putting on their black gloves, and stepping each other good-humoredly on the back. Alas, they have overlooked a single sentence of the political death notice. It reads: "Notice of funeral hereafter." The date has not been set.

The past few days may have been ideal but speaking for those of us rheumatically inclined, we doubt it, we do.

Up to date nobody has suggested that a German spy was responsible for the series of fires that threaten to wipe Ironton off the map.

The least that can be said of Auditor Donahay's figures is they will hold our good young Governor for awhile.

Reading the telegraph headlines one can well imagine the seat of warfare has been transplanted to Bayonne, N. J., and the ghastly slaughter along with it.

GEORGE DITTY LANDS
A $2,000 STATE JOB

Second Street Store Closed; Owner Gone, Declare Relatives

Columbus, O., July 24.—Announcement of the appointment of George A. Ditty, of Portsmouth, as chief assistant examiner in the division of steam engineers, which is under the control of the Ohio State Industrial Commission, was made here this afternoon by the Commission and has already been approved by Governor Frank H. Willis.

Mr. Ditty will succeed Joseph M. Wirmel, of Cincinnati, who has resigned. His salary will be $2,000 per year and he will take up his new work August 1 and will have offices in the capital building at Columbus.

Mr. Ditty was very strongly endorsed by various labor organizations throughout the state, and while here this week he took the civil service examination and passed it. He left for his home in Portsmouth this afternoon.

BOYS GIVEN HEARING

Edwin Dillon and Oscar Rawlins, South Webster youths, charged with delinquency, for alleged spoiling a farmer's corn, were given a hearing before Probate Judge Beatty Saturday. Attorney Millner defended them. Sentence was passed for further investigation.

SENT TO THE REFORM FARM
Joseph Tumbleson, 15, living near Adams county line, was sentenced to the reform school Saturday by Judge Beatty for incorrigibility.

Paint Is Stolen

Oscar Ruark reported to the police that a sneak thief stole a gallon of red roofing paint from the front porch of his home on Fourth street, Friday.

IN HANDS OF THE JURY

The case of Henry Mitchell, administrator of the estate of the late Robert Mitchell, 14, a newsboy, for $1,995 damages against the B. & O. S. W. went to a jury in common pleas court late Saturday afternoon. Young Mitchell was killed New Years day, 1915, while selling papers on Tenth street near the N. & W. depot. Plaintiffs claim negligence on the part of the B. & O. S. W. whose engine backed down on the boy.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY
Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. It also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Weyb's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because it can possibly tell you that you have gray hair, as it does it so naturally and easily. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application a two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

FOUND DIAMOND
Five minutes after he had remarked that he would give any boy $5 for the return of the diamond setting of his ring, Dr. Joseph Gill was surprised when Howard Bazler, a neighbor lad, brought the missing article to him. He had found it in a sand pile. The boy was rewarded.

Dear Miss Wise—Is it true that a year powers in their hair in some countries? I heard they did, but can't hardly believe they would be so silly. KITTY. They have done worse things than that. In some of the South Sea Islands and Polynesia, young men, who are paying court wear bright scarlet blossoms behind their left ear. It wouldn't be a bad idea to have the engaged and married men in this country do likewise.

Dear Miss Wise—If it would not be asking too much I would like to know what will make my elbows soft and white and dimply?

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 64.

know who originated or started the "Safety First" movement? RAILROAD MAN.

Mr. R. C. Richards, general claim agent of the Chicago and North-Western Railway of Chicago, also chairman of the Central Safety Committee, is supposed to be the originator of the "safety first" movement. Mr. Richards is now in the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Minn.

Dear Miss Wise—Is there any harm in a girl going out on a motorcycle with both girls and fellows? How late should girls stay out when in a crowd together? WANT TO KNOW.

There is really no harm in riding a motorcycle if you are not afraid of getting killed or, perhaps, crippled for life. I'd never risk riding on one. Young girls should be at home by 9:30 or 10 o'clock.

Dear Miss Wise—Who wrote the song called "The Raggedy Ann"? A READER.

It is not a song, but a poem by James Whitcomb Riley. Dear Dolly—We are two girls, both sixteen years old. Are we too young to go with some of our boy friends? LILLY AND ROSE. You are too young to have rooming with a soft cloth. Then, while the surface is still warm, and the joints both boys and girls or to at apores still open, an oil should be rubbed in. To do this a few drops [your friends.

For this lingerie pillow use very fine linen and mercerized cotton No. 35. The leaves, stems and butterfly wings should be done in satin stitch. The flowers, dots and the head and wing spots of the butterfly may be done in eyelets. The center space is intended for a fine chain or flit square, but the space can be used for monogram if desired.

A letter was read from Mrs. Terry Davenport, who is in charge of the young people's work of the district, planning for the year's work. The society has made arrangements to educate a Japanese girl in Seattle. The next meeting will be held the second Friday in August at the home of the leader, Miss Emma Hubert, 1015 Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jordan, a bride and groom of a few days, were entertained at supper last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jordan, a bride and groom of a month.

The Central L. T. L. met last evening at the home of Mrs. J. A. Cooper, on Eighth street, where there were present thirteen members and two visitors. After the business a vocal duet was rendered by Little Paul Cooper and Martha Mulster, and recitations were given by Frances Mulster and Ruth Taylor. The next meeting will be held next Friday at Mrs. Cooper's home.

Miss Edna Webb will be the week-end guest of Miss Mildred Waller at her fine home in McDermott, and will be joined there Sunday by Miss Louise Emmett and Mr. Otto Maitre.

Messrs. W. R. Graham and Cecil Miller came home today from Atlantic City.

The regular Golf Club dance will take place at the club next Saturday evening. The married people of the club, as well as the young set, are invited to attend these delightful dances.

Misses Marie Piskay and Vivian Dawson are coming home tonight from Oxford, where they have been attending summer school at Miami University. They will be accompanied by Miss Bess Piskay, who has been visiting her sister in Oxford.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brawley motored to Ironton today to take their guests, Miss Annette Scott, of Middletown, Ky., and Miss Elizabeth Scott, of Grayson, Ky., who will remain in Ironton for a two weeks' visit with relatives.

Rev. C. Rille has gone to Scioto Furnace to preach Sunday in place of Rev. Mr. Elson, who goes to his own church in South Webster, after holding meetings at Scioto Furnace.

Mrs. W. C. Goodman, of Third street, has gone to Warwood, W. Va., to visit her son, A. A. Goodman.

A PARTING SONG

In behalf of the Ladies' Musicales, the president, Mrs. James S. Pearce, has appointed a committee to formulate an expression of the regret of the Ladies' Musicales over the loss, through death, of Mrs. Clay B. Newman, one of its most inspiring members.

Mrs. Newman was a charter member of the Ladies' Musicales, being one of the original sixteen ladies who composed the charter list. She offered her home for the organization meeting and was elected the first president and served two terms in later years. Her house was always open for the purposes of the Ladies' Musicales and the organization always found in her a source of inspiration and encouragement. In the bright days she was optimistic, and when a struggle was necessary to keep up the interest she was more optimistic, often turning discouragement into ambition by a tactful joviality that was always infectious. The three members of the committee are well acquainted with her beautiful characteristics, as they worked at her side from the inception of the organization, the first two being two of the original sixteen who organized the Ladies' Musicales in 1893.

If her loss can mean so much to our organization, we pause abashed to consider the loss to the ones to whom she was endeared by the ties of home, and we express our hope that their grief may be assuaged by the thought that, after living in an atmosphere of music in this world, how her soul must delight in the absolutely perfect harmonies of the heavenly symphonies!

Therefore, be it Resolved: That we, as representatives of the Ladies' Musicales, extend our heartfelt sympathy to the relatives of our dear departed member, and commend them to listen to the strains of hope that are sung by the heavenly choros.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. GEORGE A. KAIL,
MISS MARY E. PHELPS,
MRS. PEARL E. SELBY,
Committee.

Alleges Windows Are Used To Spy

Motion to vacate the temporary restraining order granted L. H. Stewart, Gallia street, cut rate druggist, against John Werner and Jacob Werner, to prevent them from barring windows in the Bannan building, was filed in common pleas court Saturday through Attorney N. J. Dever and notice served on Mr. Stewart and attorneys that a hearing on the case would be held July 28. Messrs. Werner claim that the windows are used by Mr. Stewart and his employees to spy on acts of the defendant and that they (Messrs. Werner) have a right to take measures to close the openings.

Columbia—Big Feature Program Tonight and All Next Week

"The Man From the Desert" is the headliner at the Columbia this evening. It is a "Broadway Star feature" in three parts, telling a most interesting story of the circumstances surrounding a man's life in the far West and the final climaxes in the big cities of the East.

You will enjoy this picture, with its unusual wild Western scenery, also the other good comedy pictures on this evening's program.

The big five reel show for Monday is a dandy in every respect and with most excellent drama, comedy and instructive travel pictures, it can't fail to please. "The War of Dreams" is a most splendid three reel Red feature production. It is in reality, a most powerful sermon, opposing the ruthless slaying of human beings in fearful war. It is a story and picture full of punch, power and appeal. Miss Bessie Tilton is the star. Everybody remembers her in the "Spoilers." Thousands of soldiers engage in realistic warfare. Sherman said "War is Hell." The "War of Dreams" on Monday will prove convincingly that Sherman was right.

In addition to the wonderful three reel picture, just briefly described, you will have a good comedy and the famous Paramount Travel pictures.

For Tuesday Manager Tynes announces Marguerite Clark in "The Pretty Sister of Jose," a five reel picture of Spanish romance, just suited to her style and manner, and one of the very best of all of her screen triumphs.

Miss Olga Petrova in "The Heart of a Painted Woman," on Wednesday, is one of the greatest productions of the present season; a five reel picture production teeming with interest and intense excitement.

Fred Robertson and Gertrude Elliott, supported by the Drury Lane Stock Company in a picture production of "Hamlet." Shakespear's great immortal drama, is the big headliner offering at the Columbia for Thursday. Just think of seeing "Hamlet" in motion pictures and in the hands of a most capable company.

Most excellent programs have also been provided for both Friday and Saturday of next week, due notice of which you will receive through this paper.

Get the habit and attend the Columbia; the theatre of perfect ventilation; the theatre where you are always breathing fresh air and not impure air padded up by a few wall fans to make you believe it is cool and fresh.

If you believe in breathing fresh air, you must come to the Columbia and let us explain the only perfect system of theatre ventilation in Portsmouth.

Charlie Chaplin in a New Two Reel Feature At the Lyric Tonight

Our funny friend Charlie will be on the program tonight at the Lyric in one of the funniest pictures ever made "Mabel at the Wheel." It is a brand new picture and the entire 2000 feet of it is all hearty laughter. "Brava Double," one of those classy two reel Essanay dramas, is also showing tonight. This is a great story, featuring Sheldon Lewis and Nell Craig. An Edison comedy will be shown this evening also.

Don't forget "The Goddess" on Monday. Everybody is highly pleased with this wonderful picture which grows more and more interesting every week. You are missing something extra good if you don't join the crowd that is enjoying it. If you have missed the other "chapters" you can start Monday with chapter six. There is a synopsis of preceding chapters at the beginning of this week's installment.

Charlie Chaplin in a "new" comedy will be shown Monday also, making a characterjack four reel show.

Charlie Chaplin in "Laughing Gas" At Arcana Theatre Tonight

Charlie Chaplin, who has made millions laugh and scream, will be seen at the Arcana Theatre today in his latest success, entitled "Laughing Gas." This is without a doubt one of the most laughable plays ever produced and you want to be sure and see the fun. In addition to the Charlie Chaplin feature, Manager Potts will produce a two-reel attraction, "The Pursuit of Happiness." This is a strong, clean drama of sterling worth. It is full of climaxes and interesting from beginning to end. As a third feature, Manager Potts will show a Joker comedy, entitled "Soup." This production is second only to Chaplin features. The new gold-fiber screen makes all the pictures at the Arcana life-like, as well as clear and distinct. The admission is only 5 cents and you are assured of all the comforts a high-class theater provides. In an Arcana Boaster—you'll be boosting a live one.

At The Exhibit "Hearts and Swords" is the name of a good two reel feature that is the main card at the Exhibit tonight. Don't fail to see this big picture. It is full of human interest, just one you can enjoy. Everything at the Exhibit you like. A good cool house, plenty of good music and fine pictures. It is the moving picture lovers' mecca.

At The Majestic "Honor of Bill Jackson" is the two reel dramatic production being offered as the headliner at the Majestic theatre tonight. It is a strong picture, replete with heart throbs and full of interest all the way through. There are many touching scenes and tense moments. The bill is further augmented by a good comedy entitled "Noisy Neighbors." Don't fail to see this picture at the Majestic theatre tonight.

Charlie Chaplin at the Scenic Charlie Chaplin in his big two reel scream entitled "A Night Out," is the headliner on tonight's big double feature program at the Scenic. Chaplin, the funny man, who has made millions laugh, will keep you holding your sides from the beginning to the end of this

SEVEN INJURED IN ATTEMPT TO VIEW THE BODIES

Chicago, July 24.—Seven persons were injured, two seriously, when the sidewalk in front of the engine rooms on North Clark street collapsed under the weight of the crowd seeking entrance to the rooms where 21 victims of the Eastland lay.

The crowd dropped ten feet to the basement.

Convict Tells Plot To Frame-up Becker

New York, July 24.—It was learned today that Convict Joseph Murphy, who made an affidavit stating that while in the Tombs he heard Rose, Webber and Vallon plotting to lay the murder blame on Becker, had been taken to Albany this morning, presumably on orders from Governor Whitman, who wishes to question the man regarding this new phase of the case.

Governor Whitman today heard directly from Joseph Murphy, a Sing Sing convict, his story of how he overheard Jack Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon plot in the Tombs to place the blame for the murder of Herman Rosenthal on Charles Becker.

WILSON PLANS TO STRENGTHEN DEFENSE

Washington, July 24.—Formal announcement was made at the White House today that President Wilson on his return to Washington will confer with Secretaries Garrison and Daniels on a program for national defense. The president has written to the heads of the war and navy departments for reports on the subject, pointing out the necessity for working out plans for increasing the efficiency of the militia and navy.

Although nothing was stated officially concerning the purposes of the government it was hinted that with the dispatch of the emphatic note to Germany, the president had decided to hasten the reports and recommendations being prepared by the war and navy departments for the regular session of congress, so that all necessary information might be available if emergency arose.

The president's purpose is said to be to map out comprehensive plans, so that no time would be lost should he decide to call a special session.

President Wilson himself already has collected much data on the subject. Secretary Garrison has been at work steadily with members of the army general staff, for several weeks planning general military policy. The navy also has been occupied in secret with emergency preparations.

The delicacy of the international affairs brought these facts to light and officials admitted today that for the next few weeks the questions of national defense will be a foremost one. The president hopes to lay foundations for a permanent national policy particularly for the army. It is understood the intention of the general staff is to create a reserve assembly of at least 500,000 men and possibly more. Increases planned in the regular army posts at Hawaii, the Philippines, and the Panama Canal Zone with a material increase of the forces in continental United States.

WARSAW SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED

London, July 24.—On the last heavy losses by a Russian counter the front of the Warsaw triangle attack. Both Vienna and Berlin what is generally considered the claim, without giving details, that most important struggle of the Austro-German forces are now war since the battle of Marne is fighting virtually along the still raging without any interruption. The situation in the region of the ultimate outcome Petrograd concedes there is fighting on a village located on the railway six miles southwest of the road, but claims this assault was fortress of Ivangorod where the repulse. It is conceded, however, Germans smashed wire entanglements but that some of this ground was taken and they were hurried back with again lost.

17,00 DROWN AT CHICAGO

tanks, reducing the draft. Ballast would be taken on again when the vessel merged from harbor. It was the theory of the officials that most of the ballast had been forced from the tanks in anticipation of a heavy load to-day. The steamer was thus rendered top-heavy, it was thought, and this, if a fact, would explain why she capsized so quickly.

The strength of the river current was another factor that engaged attention in connection with the possibility that the keel had grounded in the mud of the river bed. Those who discussed this theory thought that the current, working against the pull of the hawsers toward the dock made a fulcrum of the keel and turned the steamer over. This theory, too, was based upon the top-heavy condition of the vessel. Still another theory was that that a tug started pulling on the steamer before the wharf lines were cast off. This, however, was denied. Grand jury investigation was forecasted when Walter Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation Co., which chartered the Eastland for the outing, was summoned to the state's attorney's office and questioned by State Attorney Hoyne. Mr. Hoyne was at his home when informed of the disaster. He immediately notified his assistants to make the inquiry. A ten year old girl, Gene Tournebabe was weeping for her two aunts, uncle and little cousin were missing. She alone of that party was rescued, so far as is known. Frank Hefle, 11 years old was crying, "I'm waiting for my mummy," said he. Hefle had been at home when informed of the accident, on which his father, Frank Hefle, Sr., his mother and two sisters, Josephine, aged 19 and Katherine, 32, told of clinging to her children Harry, 9, and Helen 8, after they and her husband, Wm. Thoyer, had been pitched into the river. Mrs. Thoyer and Harry were rescued. She lost her hold on Helen and the daughter with Mr. Thoyer were believed to have been drowned.

WEALTHY WEEP

(Continued From Page 1.) "I did not see my wife or children after the boat turned. They were carried into the river with the crowd. Some one grabbed me around the neck and kept pulling me. It was a woman but I could not save her."

Says It All Happened In A Few Minutes

William Barrett, a deck hand said: "I was on the main deck on the stern line ready to cast it off when the boat started to list. I shouted warnings to the passengers around me and tried to let go the hawser. When the boat went over I climbed on the upper deck and helped get a number of passengers into the boats. It all happened in a few minutes."

Rescues His Wife, Crawls Through Hole

Leslie Goratle, 1935 South Avers avenue, Chicago, said: "My wife and I had just entered the boat and were in the crowd on the main deck near the gangway. Then I heard some one shout 'get back' and we were pushed over to one side. A moment later the boat started to list. We were all panic stricken and could do nothing. I lifted my wife in my arms and crawled out of an opening on the upper side of the boat as it slowly went over."

Women Grab Children, Jump Into The River

Policeman Henry H. Sesser, one of the first to go to the rescue, gave a vivid description of the accident. "I saw scores of men and women, many of them holding children, plunge into the river. I jumped into a rowboat and pulled out the drowning. I think I got about fifty ashore. Tugs hurried to the scene and picked up more. We grabbed those nearest us first. At one time I had four women in the boat with me."

CALLS WILSON'S NOTE A PENULTIMATE

London, July 24.—"These are the strongest words diplomacy could employ without actually breaking relations with the power to which they are addressed, and if we apply the usual standard of interpretation to them we must call this note at least a penultimate," is the Westminster Gazette's estimate of America's new note to Germany. "It leaves nothing to be desired in the firmness wherewith it reasserts the principles laid down in the previous notes."

Commenting on the clause to the effect that recent developments have indicated it is practicable to conduct submarine operations in accordance to practices of warfare the Westminster Gazette says: "Clearly President Wilson and his colleagues have information on this subject not accessible to the belligerent powers, which are only aware of the contention in the second German note to America that as the submarine cannot conform to the accepted principles, therefore the principles must go so that the submarine may kill in safety."

WATER FRONT CITY OF DEAD

23 feet and a net tonnage of 1,215. It was brought to Chicago in 1904 and was used in the excursion business to South Haven, Michigan, for several years. Later it was taken to Cleveland, Ohio, and placed in the excursion service there. This spring the boat was remodeled. It was then brought to Chicago and put on the run to St. Joseph, Michigan. It has a steel hull and was known as one of the fastest excursion boats on the Great Lakes. It had a speed of 21 miles an hour.

The Eastland nearly met with a similar accident eight years ago when in commission between Chicago and South Haven, Michigan. The boat, crowded with passengers, listed badly in the South Haven harbor when the boat listed and water was taken aboard. Officers of the ship drove the passengers to the other side of the vessel and probably averted a disaster.

The steamer Eastland was filled to capacity and hundreds were turned to other boats, according to S. G. Hall, one of the Western Electric picnicers. He estimated that seven thousand tickets had been distributed to the employees and that more than 2,500 were crowded on the Eastland.

"I got to the dock," said Hall, "and was told to go to the other boats as the Eastland was already too crowded. There were fifteen or twenty people behind me and more coming fast. All Thrown In Water "I was told that 7,000 tickets had been distributed among the company's employees and that there were to be six loads. The only boats that I heard were to be used however, were the Eastland and the Theodore Roosevelt. I had scarcely gone ten feet toward the Roosevelt when the Eastland began to list. Handcuffs ran to the railing and climbed over its sides as it turned over. All were thrown into the water."

Along South Water street, Chicago's great produce center, commission firms practically suspended business and threw open the doors of their establishments, as temporary morgues and hospitals. All the big downtown department stores hurried truck loads of blankets to cover the dead and the drowned women and children who were in groups. Six government inspectors were working on the docks when the Eastland turned over. They were in charge of Inspector R. H. McCurry.

"Two inspectors were assigned to the Eastland," McCurry said, "to see that the boat was not overboarded. The ship had taken on all that she could hold and the two inspectors had turned many others away. She was ready to sink when the accident occurred."

"It all happened so suddenly."

Bodies Piled Up. Among those rescued was W. J. Plamondon, an electrical engineer and cousin of Charles A. Plamondon, who with his wife lost his life in the Lusitania disaster. When firemen chopped and forced their way through the side of the hull of the overturned boat they found bodies piled on one another like so many boxes of merchandise. They began taking them out and placing them on the tug Racine which stood alongside. There they were placed on stretchers and carried ashore. As fast as bodies were taken on wharves they were carried to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt or into nearby buildings or the stretchers were set down on the streets where scores of physicians and volunteer rescuers began attempts at resuscitation.

Fifty Catholic priests summoned hurriedly from their churches reached the scene of disaster shortly after 10 o'clock. Some of the priests went aboard the steamer Theodore Roosevelt which was turned into a temporary morgue but most of them devoted their attention to the dying and injured.

There were seventy-two men in the crew of the Eastland and all of them were reported to have escaped by swimming to the wharf. Later they aided in the rescue work.

The last annual inspection of the Eastland was made in St. Joseph, Michigan, May 7, 1915. Steamboat inspectors from St. Joseph, Mich., made the inspection. On July 6 a drydock examination of the boat's hull was made by Captain Ira B. Mansfield and William Nicholas, local steamboat inspectors.

Bodies were removed to downtown morgues in wagon loads where clothing of the victims was examined in an attempt to identify them. Sixty per cent of the dead were women, according to the coroner. They have the appearance of a desperate struggle for life.

MINERS WILL GET SUNDAY DINNER

Columbus, Ohio, July 24.—Ten thousand hungry coal miners in the Hocking Valley region will have Sunday dinners tomorrow, the first time for many months, as a result of today's activity of the state government. Four carloads of provisions, enough to supply a day's food for 9,600 persons, were on their way to the coal fields of Athens and Hocking counties.

Sometime Sunday take a free street car ride to Millbrook and Idlewild. See the new lots. All fares will be refunded on arrival at Idlewild, one square east of Millbrook Lake. adv

The governor also appointed these men delegates to the International Congress for Thrift to be held at San Francisco August 9 to 12: S. D. Fittin, Hamilton, K. B. Mitchell, Lima; Prof. A. R. Halton, Cleveland; Isaac M. Herter, Canton; Frank Pomeroy, Coshocton and M. A. Sprague, Berea.

U. S. Papers Agree Note Is Firm

BOSTON HERALD—"From the logic of the president's note there can be no escape. From the responsibilities which it imposes the American people exhibit no desire to retreat. Its closing appeal to the ties of memory and of friendship, after all, is to the common interest of two nations. It is a note which points the way to continue peace but leaves Germany to decide."

BUFFALO EXPRESS—"It remains to say whether or not there shall be a break in the close relations which have continued for so many years between the two peoples. We have nothing more to say. We have shown Germany that we are bound to protect American lives and property from the barbaric methods of German undersea fighting and it now is for Germany to say whether we shall be required to go beyond words in making our position plain to her and to the world."

PORTLAND (OREGON) OREGONIAN—"If there was expectation that the president's third note to Germany would yield any measure of American rights it has not been fulfilled. It says for the American position clearly and firmly."

WHEELING (W. VA) INTELLIGENCER—"Friendly but firm."

SHIP TORPEDOED London, July 24.—The Russian ship Rubonia has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine. Her crew of thirty was landed on the Orkney Islands. The trawler Star of Peace also was torpedoed and sunk off the Orkneys. The crew was landed at Stromness.

Local German's View Of European War

(Written by Louis F. Korth, former Editor of The Correspondent.)

Friday, July 23, 1915.
Hindenburg, the silent but ever vigilant present day Moltke, whom the history makers in Paris and London a month ago had assigned to oblivion and disfavor with the Kaiser for tardiness, is at the sledgehammer again. On the Baltic in Courland and Livland, marching on Riga and the Wilna-Petersburg railroad, on the big Narva line north of Warsaw, which he broke at Ostrolenka, although considered impregnable by the Russians, on the Pilica front south of Warsaw, where he forced the strong Blonie-Gródce positions and crossed the Vistula at the junction of the two rivers, on the Russian center and Bura-Bawka, in fact closing in on the Polish capital north, west and south.

There are five different armies operating against Warsaw. The army of General Kichhorn on the Nemen and Bobra, laying siege to Osowiec, the northern point of the fortress-triangle Warsaw-Osowiec-Brest Litovsk, her right wing joining the left of General Von Gallwitz, who after taking Ostrolenka has advanced the farthest toward Warsaw and is now bombarding Nowo Georgiewsk, the key to her northwestern belt of forts and fortifications. The army of Gen. Von Woyrsich has occupied Radom on the Kielce-Ivangorod railroad and is operating in conjunction with that of the Austrian Archduke Joseph Ferdinand against Lublin and Ivangorod which is now under siege.

The latter after a severe battle took the heights north of Krasnik, standing in his way to Lublin, and pushed his left wing to the Vistula, establishing communication with Woyrsich.

East of the Austrians Von Mackensen is advancing victoriously toward Chelm and Kovel to cut the railroad Warsaw-Odessa, the only one to the south and the Russian granaries, while Boehm-Ermoli with his Austrians forms the extreme right wing to the Dniester and the southeast.

That is the situation by the latest advices from the seat of war which at this writing (Friday) may have been superseded already by news of the evacuation of Warsaw, if the Russians did not accept battle. It is not likely that they will risk a defense of the city and fortress, with the certainty of capture of army, immense material and stores. They will do as they did at Przemyśl and Lemberg, take to the rear.

With the fall of Warsaw the whole Russian front from sea to mountains would be broken and the most decisive success achieved by the German-Austrians since the beginning of the war, the biggest victory in history, whose political significance would be as great as the military.

In Northern Courland the German have cleared the Liban-Mitan and the Windan-Mitan railroads from enemies, have taken Windau on the sea, which the retreating Russians burnt to the ground, and by last reports stood at Seelock on the Gulf of Riga. Mitan is probably in their hands by this time.

Everywhere the Russians fight with desperation and make a heroic but unsuccessful stand, the correspondent of the Associated Press says.

Before evacuating Windau they burnt down the town and on their retreat laid waste the whole country and confiscated the crops, so they would not fall into the hands of the Germans. The same is to be done in and around Warsaw, if reports are correct. The inhabitants are fleeing and the government offices and archives have been removed to the interior.

Berlin papers say 66,790 Russian soldiers and 175 officers have been captured.

To offset the disaster in the east General Joffre has undertaken a new drive against the German lines at Colmar and Muenster in the valley of the Fech, Upper Alsace. Paris claims that the French have gained a foothold in the stone quarries and slopes of the Barrenkopf. There is no doubt but that the Allies if possible will redouble their activity on the Western front, but the Germans are not idle either. The late victories of the Crownprince in the Argonne, denied or minimized in Paris, are considered in Berlin of importance, as it shows that the French communications between Verdun and Paris are gradually being destroyed. The victors took large quantities of war material, proving that the positions taken were to be defended to the utmost, and 7009 prisoners with 116 officers.

The losses of the Allies are immense. The German military authorities claim to have accurate figures of those in the great Arras battle which reached the grand total of 74,800 in killed, wounded and captured.

On the Austrian-Italian frontier the heaviest fighting this week took place around Goar for the possession of the bridge-head on the Isonzo river on the road to Trieste and the plateau of Doberdo which commands it. The Italians succeeded in taking Monte San Michele, but General Boog, the defender, retook it the same day with his reserves. Since then all further attacks on plateau and bridge-head have been repulsed, with heavy loss to the Italians, as Vienna officially reports.

On the Carinthian (Kaerthener) border three battalions of Italian Alpine troops made an unsuccessful attack on Montepiano east of Schluderbach. Two-thirds of the force was cut down, as the Austrian General Staff says.

The Swedish military expert Loegren, who visited all parts of the front, says in Aftonbladet: "The Italian campaign is a failure. The troops fight well, but are badly led. The war fever has vanished and the moral defeat, if not the military, is visible everywhere. The Austrian artillery has shown its superiority here as in Galicia. Italian losses are fearful and have a most depressing influence on the troops."

The Geneva Tribune (French) admits that the Italian offensive on the Isonzo was easily crushed by the Austrians. It estimates the Italian losses on the three fronts since Italy entered the fray at 80,000.

The destruction of the Italian cruiser Amalfi by an Austrian submarine has been followed by that of the Giuseppe Garibaldi in the Adriatic south of Ragusa.

At the Dardanelles the Turks still hold the Allies at bay. The British co-operating naval force is apparently reduced to a nullity by the fear of the German submarines. A depressing quiet reigns on the straits except at Galata, where the Turks are building submarines and aeroplanes now and manufacture their own munition.

The Russian Duma which was adjourned until November as well as the crown council have been called into extra session on August 1, by special Ukase of the Czar. Prayers for victory were offered in all the churches of the Empire on Wednesday last.

Russia is issuing another thousand million paper roubles, shilling, as is announced from Petrograd. That is forced circulation with which a war cannot be sustained. It is evident that Czarism is bankrupt all around.

Russia's power is broken, physically, economically and morally. To the disaster in the front revolution in the rear will come, just as during the war with Japan, as soon as the people begin to learn what has been withheld from them, and then the influences for peace, already at work, will assert themselves. The Czar will accept other counsel than that of Nicolajewitch.

Four weeks ago already Adjutant General Sandetzki was sent by the Czar to Paris to demand a general energetic offensive of the Western Allies against the German lines so as to relieve the Russians of the dangerous pressure against their Galician front, else disaster was inevitable. Local attacks in France and Flanders did not relieve the situation, the Czar's emissary told the French and English commanders. Since then things have gone from bad to worse.

Nowojce Wrenja, probably the most influential paper in Russia, the one who some months ago had the Cossacks at the gates of Berlin, Budapest and Vienna, gives vent to a change of feeling by assuring Germany and Austria "that Russia has never considered them unbearable neighbors. It does not want to humiliate Germany, much less dismember Austria. The possession of the Dardanelles is all it is fighting for. They were of more importance to Russia than Alsace-Lorraine is to France."

Russia and France were the original allies, who started the war. France advanced to Russia thousands of millions to build out her railroad system and otherwise strengthen herself for the war with Germany in order to help her regain Alsace. Now Russia tells her she must go it alone if England cannot furnish her the needed millions. But the French Prime Minister Viviani has lately told a committee of the chambers confidentially, as is related by a Vienna paper, that France cannot risk another winter campaign, it must end the war before winter or give up.

"Sweden will be forced to enter the war under certain eventualities," is the declaration of Prime Minister Dr. Hammarskjöld in Parliament. In Berlin this is interpreted as a warning to Russia to restore to Finland her constitutional liberty.

In Roumania a league for the reconquering of Bessarabia from Russia has been formed at the head of which the Ex-Ministers Carp and Rosetti stand. Moldavia says now is the time to act.

Prime Minister Radostavof, of Bulgaria, says the price for joining the Allies is Macedonia, which Bulgaria took from Turkey in the First Balkan war and lost to Greece and Serbia in the second. It is a question of robbing Paul to pay Peter.

Serbia's political aim and aspiration has been the road to the Adriatic, a life question for its economic and commercial development. That is why it insists on being a party in the division of Albania and lately occupied Durazzo to forestall Italy. Italy who has made the possession of Albania a condition sine qua non protested to her new allies. Russia, which so far has been Serbia's backer, but is powerless now, on call from London and Rome has to forsake the friend, and Serbia has had to give up Durazzo again. It has fallen with Russia.

Canada is not furnishing as large a contingent to the British army as was hoped for. London blames the Canadian press for it by exaggerating the losses in Flanders but Ypres has told the true story.

Harold Cox says the big new English war loan will be used up by Christmas. England would have to borrow another ten thousand millions. The yearly interest on it alone would amount to nearly five hundred million dollars.

The German Reichsbank announced an increase of $1,508,000 in gold funds last week. As yet who does not need to borrow. In the first four months of the current year savings in Germany increased by nearly 1,000 million marks over withdrawals. In France it was exactly the reverse. French foreign trade is almost extinct.

Production and consumption of beer in Germany have fallen off forty per cent since the beginning of the war.

Saving deposits in Austria-Hungary have increased in the first half of the present year by 1,600 millions kronen. Speaks well for the economic conditions of the country.

The city of Colmar in Upper Alsace has been bombarded by a French flyer flotilla which destroyed a number of houses. Several women and children were killed.

For the Italian war loan not more than 200 million dollars have been subscribed so far according to information given out by the Banco Italiano in Rome. Italy is poor in cash.

By statistics of the Department of Commerce the United States exported in the eleven months from August 1, 1914, to July 1, 1915, 302,129 horses and mules to the value of $66,141,956. Agents of the British war office were the main buyers. A high army official says "They took only the best blood. If congress does not inhibit the exportation of mares America will be without horseflesh in a few years."

From March until date the British have capered sixty cargoes of cotton shipped from the United States to Europe.

Immense war supplies are now arriving in Vladivostok on the Russian Pacific coast from the United States. If the soldiers skilled to use them would come along it might help Russia. Raw half Asiatic recruits will not do it.

Behind the German lines in France and Flanders whole suburban towns have sprung up with water, steam, gas and electricity, where thousands of soldiers, skilled mechanics, make barbed wire, steel plates, shot and shell, uniforms, shoes, saddles, harness horseshoe etc. Thousands of others help the farmers in the harvest.

After the sinking of the Lusitania the American S. S. line announced that it would carry no munition of war on its passenger vessels. That was a guarantee of immunity from attack by German submarines. American travelers have flocked ever since to the American line leaving the English lines in the cold.

The communications of Lord Lansdowne to the English House of Lords about the strength of the British forces in Flanders have created not only astonishment but downright depression throughout Great Britain.

The statement which Lloyd George made in parliament in April led everybody to believe that they were not far from the million. Now we hear from Lansdowne that General French has little more than 450,000 men to cover the line of front assigned him in Flanders, some twenty miles out of four hundred. While France is bleeding to death, England is saving her men and her ships. She dare not risk them.

Sometime Sunday take a free street car ride to Millbrook and Idlewild. See the new lots. All fares will be refunded on arrival at Idlewild, one square east of Millbrook Lake. adv

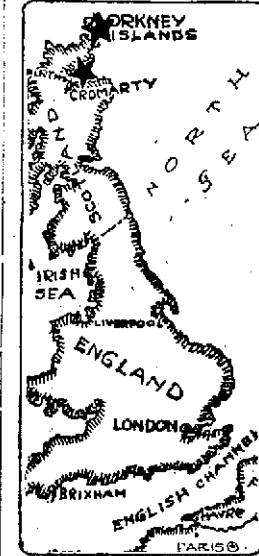

NO CLUE TO ROBBERY

E. V. Leach, whose home at 1335 Fifth street, was burglarized Tuesday, when four valuable gold rings and $30 in money were taken Saturday that not the slightest clue had been obtained to the guilty parties. Mr. Leach says the thief found his money in a drawer of the buffet and his wife's rings in a jewel box on her dresser.

ADULTERY IS CHARGED

His wife stayed out all night and ran around with other men is one of the charges contained in the divorce petition filed by Edward Moore against Ona Belle Moore in common pleas court Saturday morning through Attorneys Miller, Miller and Searl. He alleges gross neglect of duty and adultery and wants a divorce and custody of a minor child. The couple was married in Adams county six years ago.

MOST OF FLEET AT ORKNEY ISLANDS

Where's the English fleet? The map will show you. Most of it is established in a neat base at the Orkney islands, pretty safe from the submarines, from where a way is expected to be found sometime for it to issue forth to a decisive battle with the German ships.

TAKEN TO THE WORKHOUSE

Police Clerk Dennis Coriell took Mrs. Emma Braden and Miss Katie Queen, victims of recent raids, to the Cincinnati workhouse Saturday morning. Miss Rebecca Badgley, who was also slated to go, had her fine paid at the last moment by friends. A traveling man also provided her with a Pullman car seat to Columbus.

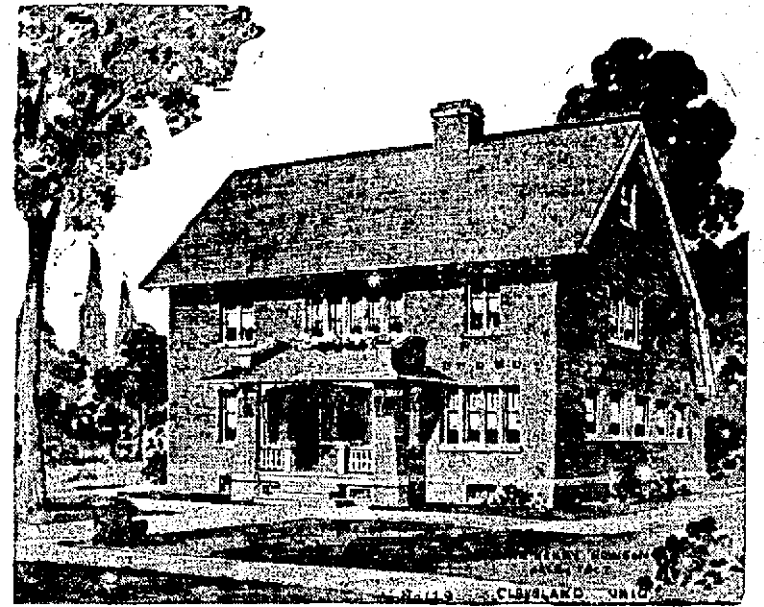

Ten More Names Drawn For Jury

Ten additional petit jurors were drawn Saturday morning at the orders of Judge James S. Thomas by the jury commissioners Philo S. Clark and John Jones. The names were: Oscar Adams, fourth ward; George W. Fround, fourth ward; Earl Brand, Porter township; Seeloville; A. J. Fuller, second ward; W. H. Dehler, second ward; William Doll, fourth ward; John Pick, Washington township; Daniel Yost, Upper Nile township; John P. Meuko, fourth ward; W. C. Browne, Washington township.

The jurors may be needed in the Bertram manslaughter case which comes up next Friday.

"Home of Character" No. 129

A Brick House—By John Henry Newson.

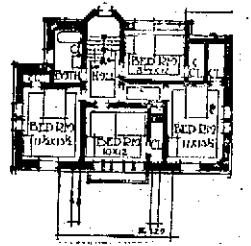

No material is as substantial looking as brick, and when carefully laid up, with a simple pattern treatment upon the walls, a pleasing exterior is obtained. This is an economical plan with the kitchen placed in the center, at the rear, and access from same to the front hall. The living room is placed on one side of the house. The hall is imposing and the dining room is generous in proportions. The vista through the hall from the dining room towards and through the living room is delightful and most spacious in appearance. The unusual stairway arrangement avoids the necessity of a rear stairs and at the same time provides easy access to the second floor from both the hall and kitchen. The second floor provides four bedrooms, each with a closet, a bathroom and a linen closet. The attic is not finished and the basement extends under the entire house.

No. 129—Size 40x24 feet. Can be built for $4800 to $6000 in brick or considerably cheaper in frame.

Further information concerning No. 129 or any other design shown on this page from week to week free.

The Times has arranged with Mr. John Henry Newson to answer any inquiries concerning No. 129 or any other "Home of Character" shown on this page from week to week.

Address your inquiry, giving the number of the particular home you have in mind, to John Henry Newson, "Homes of Character" Department, The Times.

WIFE OF MAN ALLEGED TO BE A BIGAMIST SURE SHE IS THE ONE AND ONLY WIFE

True as steel and with absolute faith and confidence in the innocence of her husband, is Mrs. Florence Gregory-Galloway, the young wife of Malcolm Galloway, a Portsmouth barber, under arrest at Anderson, Ind., for alleged bigamy.

Mrs. Galloway has just returned to Portsmouth and is the guest of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reese, of Franklin avenue, where she was seen by a Times man Saturday morning.

Mrs. Galloway, who previous to her marriage to Mr. Galloway, September 16, 1914, at the home of her parents in Janesville, Wisconsin, was employed as a stenographer at Richmond, Ind., was at first disinclined to discuss her husband's trouble, deploring the notoriety that had already been given him and saying that but one side had been presented.

She resented the reference made to her by Anderson papers as Wife No. 3. "I have every reason to believe that Mr. Galloway was never married before and that he is perfectly innocent of the charge. They can not do anything with him and if there was any prosecuting to do I would be the proper one to do it. Many an innocent man has suffered unjustly but I'm sure Mr. Galloway will be vindicated," she said.

Mrs. Galloway when questioned regarding the claim that some of the children of the two women claiming to be former wives of Galloway bore striking resemblance to each other said she had never heard or read of that.

According to Mrs. Galloway her husband is a native of Cincinnati. He was employed as a barber in Richmond when she formed his acquaintance.

Asked how long she knew him before their marriage took place she said smilingly "Long enough." Galloway was employed at the John Linck barber shop on Gallia street when arrested.

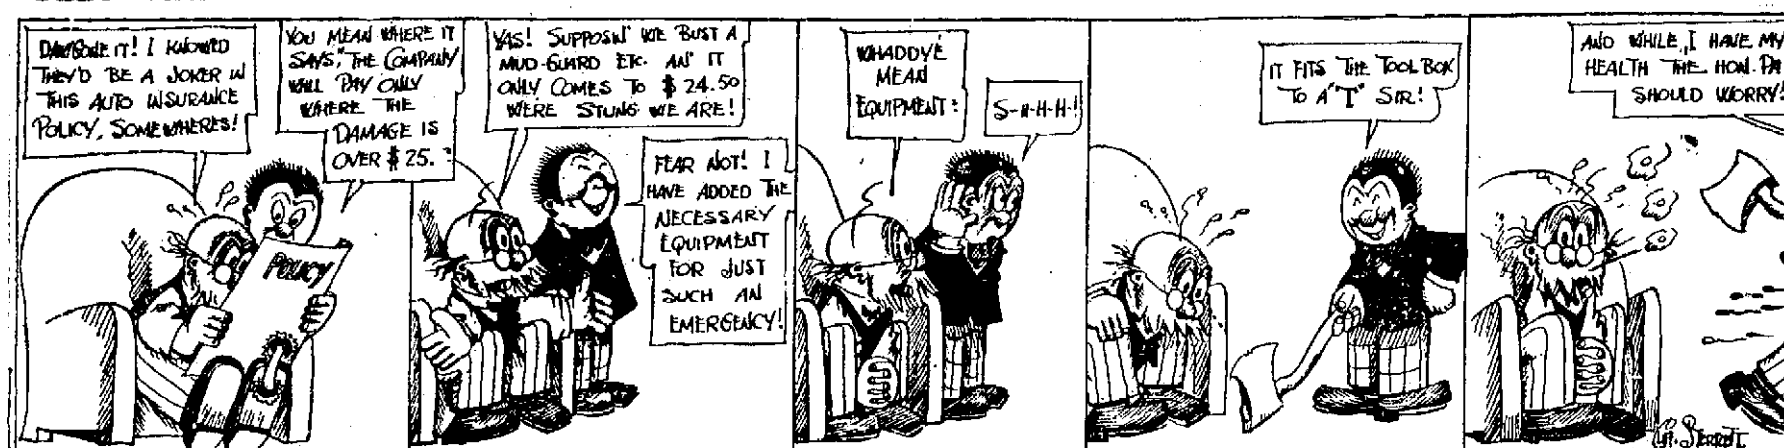

The other two women who claim to be wives of Galloway are residents of Eldwood and Evansville, Ind. One has two children and the other three. They met for the first time at the opening of Galloway's trial early this month. The first marriage is alleged to have occurred at Dixon, Ky., December 25, 1907, and the second at Covington, Ky., May 16, 1911.

157 Divorces Granted In Local Common Pleas Court During Year Ending June 30

Decreases in divorce granted in local common pleas court during the year commencing June 30, 1914, to June 30, 1915, totaled 157, according to records compiled by Clerk of Courts Roy McElhaney.

Many other interesting statistics have been compiled by Mr. McElhaney which are annually sent to the secretary of state. All records for clerks' fees were broken when he turned into the equity for the quarter just closed $1500.

Mr. McElhaney, after four year tenure in office, retires Saturday, July 31, while his successor, John Hall, assumes the incumbency Monday, August 2. Mr. McElhaney stated Saturday that he was undecided as to his future plans.

Following is a synopsis of Mr. McElhaney's annual report compiled by himself and his deputy, Mrs. Gladys Clare. Some interesting data is contained in the report, which is especially comprehensive as to divorce and alimony cases:

Divorce cases pending 74; final decrees given during year 157; civil judgments, less divorce, 120.

Crimes against persons pending, 4; filed during year 18; crimes against property pending, 12; filed during year 74; crimes against public peace pending, 6; filed during year, 8; crimes against public held pending, 1; crimes against chastity and morality pending, 2; filed during year, 3.

Coroner's inquests, 58.

Some Interesting Divorce Statistics

Some interesting statistics on divorce are contained in this report. Out of a total of 213 divorce cases 42 suits were brought by the husbands and 189 by wives. In 17 cases the wife was allowed alimony. Decreases granted to husbands numbered 18; to wives 55. Decreases refused husbands 3; to wives 14. Dismissed when brought by husband 14; when brought by wife 53.

Two children were awarded husbands while 16 were awarded wives.

Fines And Costs Assessed

Amount of fines assessed during year was $181.00; total costs taxed $1772.41; amount taxed against defendants $1074.78; amount collected from defendants $43.76.

Civil Judgments Rendered in Year

Total number of civil judgments rendered less divorce cases 120; number for money only 67.

amount $20678.39; number in which money is included other than the above 2; amount $25,784.20; total amount adjudged due $46,462.59; average of each judgment $527.98; number of final decrees—foreclosures, partitions, divorces and alimony 150.

Jury Fees

Total amount of jury fees certified $470.25; total amount of petit jury fees $2020.85; total $2491.10.

Prosecution for crimes against the person—Indictments 23; convicted 5; acquitted 1; nolle prosequi 4; continued off docket 9; none fined; imprisoned and fined $2; imprisoned 3.

Prosecution for crimes against property—Indictments 77; convicted 27; acquitted 2; nolle prosequi 22; still pending 12; continued off docket 14; fined 4; imprisoned 22; fined and imprisoned 1.

Prosecution for crimes against public peace and health—Indictments 10; convicted 3; pending 7; imprisoned 2; fined and imprisoned 1.

Prosecution against public chastity and morality—Indictments 3; convicted 1; pending 2; imprisoned 1.

River Still Holds Its Boy Victim

All efforts to locate the body of Edward Edgell, who met death by drowning in the Ohio river Friday morning, near the Breece plant in New Boston, had proven useless up until late Saturday afternoon. A searching party worked until late Friday night with drags but failed to locate the body. Dynamite was used in a vain effort to bring the body to the surface Saturday.

The unfortunate lad's mother, Mrs. Mary Edgell of Pittsburgh, was sent a telegram Saturday and she is expected here, Sunday.

WOODMEN HAD SMOKER

At the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America held Friday night one candidate, Brooks Gowdy, was initiated. The applications from the following persons were received: M. Russell, C. A. Bowman, F. A. Adams, Charles R. Burns, Edward Thurman, Frank Cogan and Augustus Cole. The meeting closed with an enjoyable smoker.

SEDAN (Delayed.)

Farmers of this section are busy cutting weeds and harvesting hay since the heavy rains. J. D. Wilson, deputy county surveyor, is surveying one mile of the proposed new turnpike, which runs from Crabtree Hill to McCulloch. The road will be built next fall.

Rev. Miller held a series of meetings at the Sedan Baptist church last week. Large crowds attended each service. Mr. Miller had a large variety of religious books for sale and disposed of a considerable number.

Frank Cox and family were the guests of G. W. Allen and wife, of Harrisonville, Saturday and Sunday.

An interesting ball game took place here last Saturday afternoon between the Sedan and Mt. Joy Regulars and the Sedan Juniors. Babe Reno was pitcher for the Regulars and Ed Mercer for the Juniors. Boy Roney is manager of the Regulars and Muriel Mercer of the Juniors. Although the Regulars beat the Juniors out of one inning and run in their best batters on them, also changed the score cap. The score stood 5 to 6 in favor of the Juniors. The Regulars were afraid to put in Brown as pitcher.

Luther Cox, who has been sick for some time, is reported no better.

Forest McCall stopped on a slippery stone Sunday evening and the result was a bath in the waters of Bear Creek.

Luther Crabtree is working for Steve Smith, putting up hay this week.

DUTIEL'S CORNER

Rev. Jacob Fox, Jr., filled his regular appointment at Mt. Hope Sunday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, Sr., and daughter, Virgie, and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Ruth spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Knight and two children, of Scioto Farms, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunter.

Miss Ida Cummins, of Portsmouth, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Squire Weaver.

To The Republican Voters Of Portsmouth:

JUDGE OSBORN has SERVED TEN YEARS in the Council of Portsmouth, AT A PERSONAL SACRIFICE, but WITH DISTINCTION and TO THE GREAT BENEFIT OF THE CITY of Portsmouth.

THE SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM was initiated by him and has grown rapidly UNDER HIS INFLUENCE.

NATURAL GAS was obtained for Portsmouth largely THROUGH HIS INSTRUMENTALITY.

JUDGE OSBORN LED in the movement FOR BETTER SIDEWALKS and MORE OF THEM.

This is only a small part of his RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT FOR PORTSMOUTH.

Why not reward him for his VALUABLE AND UNSELFISH SERVICES, and insure to ourselves and city a better and bigger continuation of them, by casting our votes for GEORGE M. OSBORN for the Republican nomination for MAYOR.

OFFICIAL REPORT MADE ON NEW WATERWORKS

Changes Agreed On And Promises Made

Official correspondence between the John H. McGowan company, the J. F. Witmer company and Mayor Adam Frick confirming the results of the recent water works conference was made public Saturday.

At this conference the entire equipment at the pumping station furnished and installed by the John H. McGowan Co., was considered in detail with the following conclusions reached:

The entire boiler room equipment including boilers, stokers, boiler feed pump, hot well pumps, feed water heater, and general boiler room piping are in good working order and give complete satisfaction. There are a few leaks in some of the small joints which will be promptly remedied by the John H. McGowan company. An extra set of water gauge floats of heavier design and an extra float for the overflow of the feed water heater will be furnished. The coal hoist is successfully handling all of the coal used, and by actual test has been found capable of delivering to the bins above the stokers 42,000 pounds of coal in 7 hours.

In the engine room equipment the following parts have been found entirely satisfactory: viz: The electric light engine and generator, all of the lighting and wiring in the main engine room and condenser floor and high service pump pit, the complete heating system, the Simplex meter located in the suction line of the main engines, the main steam piping, the feed water piping, the exhaust piping, and all of the cast iron water pipe installed by the McGowan Co., in and about pumping station.

Low Service Pumps. At the time of the inspection made by the members of this conference, No. 2 pump, low service, was in operation, No. 1 being held as a reserve unit. No. 2 pump has recently been overhauled for the purpose of securing the required capacity at the contract speed and making considerable improvements in the method of lubricating the bearings. While the capacity test was not possible previous to this conference, it appeared from the indicating instruments at the filtration plant that the pumps were delivering the required quantity of water.

The steam turbine was being properly controlled by the governor and was operating satisfactorily at its normal speed. The present method of lubricating the steam turbine by means of sight-feed oil-cups will be made satisfactory by connecting the oil-pot directly to the bearings. The transmission shafting between the pumps and steam turbines runs quietly when operated at or near the contract speed. There is some vibration to this shaft, however, at starting and stopping, and when it is attempted to run the pump with only one of the four turbine nozzles open. No. 1 Low Service pump is to be provided with habbit bearings lubricated with grease. The automatic regulation of the turbine pumps is not essential, but the contractor has equipped both turbines with high grade regulating devices. The condensers of both turbines are to be examined, such tubes as are damaged are to be replaced with new ones of heavier construction and the condensers will be made satisfactory. Certain modifications are to be made in the vacuum pumps for the purpose of increasing the vacuum.

High Service Pumps. These pumps were put into continuous operation on November 4, 1914. Since that time they have furnished all water used in the city, except on one or two occasions when breaks occurred in the pipe line between the city and the pumping station. During the inspection on the 20th, the two pumps were operated for a short period at full capacity of 8,000,000 gals. for 24 hours, and for a considerable period at the rate of somewhat exceeding 7,500,000 gals. the speed being gradually reduced as the amount of available water at the filtration plant was pumped into the high elevation reservoir. It was found that the pumps, particularly No. 2 pump could not be run quietly at speed with high vacuum in the condenser, also that there is a certain amount of water-hammer in the suction pipe, together with the consequent suitable air-chambers on the suction piping as near as possible to the engines, and by making certain changes involving the elimination of the reheaters in the steam connection between the cylinders. An examination of all of the pumping valves is to be made to make sure that they are operating properly. Larger air-chambers have already been placed from the discharge of No. 2 pump and similar chambers are on hand and will be installed on No. 1 at the first opportunity. It was found that the surge-pipe which has recently been erected as a part of the suction connection benefitted the pumps but slightly. The few slight leaks in the small jacket piping of the steam ends were noted and will be satisfactorily remedied by the contractor.

At the conclusion of the conference Mr. J. F. Witmer held, as engineer for the city, that all of the changes and modifications outlined in the memorandum could be made under the city specification as now written, and that the contractors were therefore instructed to make the same as promptly as possible. All of which was agreed to by the contractor, who assured the engineers that his instructions would be carried out and the work completed with all possible diligence. The mayor replied to the McGowan company in part as follows:

"Be reminded that as stated in our board meeting July 19, 1915, to which you refer, that the Board of Control merely insists that the contract quantity of water from each pump unit—4,000,000 gallons—be delivered with economy and positive certainty and with ease into the reservoir. That any conference with the employees of the city who might suggest certain changes will have no weight with the board in these demands. That it was the duty of your company to bring about these results. That we cared nothing for your company making a few or even more changes wherever necessary to accomplish this end.

We delegate no authority to any of our employees except such as is ordinary in the regular course of their duty's for which they are engaged by the city.

"Respectfully submitted,
"ADAM FRICK,
"Mayor."

New Boston Census Approved, School Board Has Busy Session

Awarding of three contracts and the payment of a number of bills consumed most of the time of the New Boston board of education at their regular monthly session Friday evening.

Bills amounting to $364 were allowed. Marion Poole presented a bill for $10 for taking the census of the village but it was turned down. Clerk Ray Coburn read a letter from the state superintendent of public instruction approving the census as taken several weeks ago showing that the village had over 3000 souls which will allow the schools to go from under the supervision of a county school superintendent.

The contract of draining and grading Stanton avenue school lot was awarded to Kaps Bros. on their bid of $367.40. A motion was passed that an order be placed with the American Seating Company for 112 pupils' desks and five teacher's desks and chairs. Kaps Bros. were allowed $125 for the building of a heltry on the Stanton avenue building. Contractor C. E. Nourse who had the contract for the building of the three room and auditorium addition to the Stanton avenue building was allowed an estimate of $5,033.

The board passed a motion to insure the new addition to the Stanton avenue building for $10,000. The policy was awarded to the St. Paul Fire Insurance Company of St. Paul, Minn. Agent Charles Dixon being present to represent the company.

Two bids from the Tritscheller Plumbing Company and Schmidt

& Watkins Company for the installation of sanitary plumbing systems in the Oak street and Stanton avenue schools were opened by Clerk Ray Coburn.

Tritscheller Company's bid: excavating, filling and cement work, material, $130, labor, $48. Carpenter work including all items named in contract: material, $22, labor, $12. Plumbing, including all items specified in connection with same, material, $4700, labor, $573.50. Alternates for marble slabs, etc., material $1050, labor $125.

Schmidt and Watkins Co.'s bid: work, material $127.62, labor $45. Carpenter work, material, $20, labor $10. Plumbing, material, $4,333, labor $550. Alternates for marble slabs, etc., material $935, labor $100.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE WILL OPEN TONIGHT

With everything in apple pie order, five shining bowling alleys, eight pocket billiard tables, and all the accessories necessary for the satisfaction of man, the "Crystal Palace," Portsmouth's newest amusement house, will be thrown open to the public this evening by the proprietor, Louis Distel. The "Crystal Palace," and it is rightly named, is located on east Gallia street, opposite Flood and Blake's drug store and the people of the East End have a right to feel proud over their latest enterprise.

In the first place everything is brand new. The building was erected to meet every demand. It is 137 feet deep, and 30 feet wide, a fire proof construction, and one admirably arranged to accommodate the various amusement devices.

In the rear five new bowling alleys glisten under the rays of hundreds of electric lights. These alleys, installed by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, of Cincinnati, are fast and true and no doubt many records will be made upon their smooth surface. New mottled mineralite balls, the bowler's delight, repose upon the return tracks, and so bored to fit the grip of all the ten pin artists. On Monday evening, the Wanless Wonders will meet in battle Frediger's Primroses in a three game match at ten pins. While this match is being pulled off, two teams will be battling for the supremacy at duck pine. Come out and see the fun.

Entering the big spacious building, one's eyes can be filled completely at one glance. Eight new pocket billiard tables, perfectly arranged, make one fairly itch to get hold of a cue stick and try his skill. The tables are of massive design, and the cloth smooth and true. The click of the ivories will be heard tonight at the opening when the proprietor, Mr. Distel, turns on the current.

To the right is a highly ornate cream back stand, where ice cream sodas will be served. Then comes the cigar stand, followed by the lunch counter. Mr. Distel has installed one of the very latest steaming closets, a sanitary arrangement. Lockers have been installed and everything provided for the comfort of patrons.

Mr. Distel is to be commended for his enterprise. He has invested a considerable sum of money, but there is no question but that "The Crystal Palace" will be freely and liberally patronized. Mr. Distel has never been connected with a losing venture. He is a hustler from the word go, popular and deserving. Some rare sport is bound to result at the "Crystal Palace," one of the best constructed and best equipped amusement centers in the country.

Making Money

There are very few ways in which money can be made easily, in substantial amounts, safely. Surprisingly few routes that do not risk disaster.

Plain work; work, work and saving is the surest way. But this involves long years and good health, and even then something must be done with those accumulated savings. It is not even safe to bury them, unless we bury ourselves with them.

About the surest, safest plan for all of those of us whom Lincoln called "the good common people,"

is to invest some of our earnings in a newly opened town lot addition, provided prices are reasonable, or very low, and the location and future promise of the property looks favorable. After careful consideration and consultation with sensible people, whose judgment we believe is good and unprejudiced. Ask any such person what their opinion is of the chances for a rapid increase in the values of the improved Idlewild property, just one square east of Millbrook Lake, after they have looked it over today or Sunday. (Adv.)

OBJECTS TO HUCKSTERS "CORNERING" PRODUCE IN LOCAL MARKETS

John Faverty, city market master, Saturday morning, fired the opening gun in a determined campaign to end what he says has become a growing evil in the local markets that of hucksters cornering all produce and popping up prices.

Mr. Faverty, when he caught some hucksters in the act of buying up all produce of some standard keepers from the rural districts, in transferring the supply to their own wagons and selling the same at prices considerably in excess of what the others themselves had been asking, promptly ordered the practice stopped. The hucksters took issue with him, contending that they were within their rights but Faverty stood his ground warning them that he was absolute master of the markets. Quite a crowd was attracted by the argument and the spectators were practically unanimous in their support of the stand taken by Mr. Faverty.

School Board Plans For Coming Season

At the meeting of the school board held Friday night a contract was awarded to the Langslow Fowler company of Rochester for ninety chairs for the new Garfield school building on Gallia avenue.

The Cleveland Seating company received the contract for 523 desks on their bid of $1,528.40. The American Seating company will equip the Garfield building with new blackboards. Their bid was 15 cents a square foot. The schedule amounting to $4,736 was allowed.

The question of proper sewage for the Garfield building was put up to the building and repair committee and it will confer with the proper authorities relative to this matter.

It was also decided to repair the cement walks, yard and sidewalks of the Campbell avenue building, the work to be done under the supervision of the building and repair committee.

A request was made to the board to use the Union street school yard for playgrounds and it was granted.

So thoroughly were the bids for the Garfield equipment gone over that the board did not adjourn until 1:30 this morning. Members Nourse, Scudder, Hudson and Purdum were present.

Lesson IV.—Third Quarter, For July 25, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings viii, 22-26. Memory Verses, 22, 24—Golden Text, Isa. lvi, 7.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In some respects the ark of Noah, the tabernacle of Moses and the temple of Solomon were the three most remarkable buildings in the history of the world, for God himself was the sole designer of each, and each was intensely typical of things to come. The ark, the tabernacle and the temple have been made more plain to me by tabernacle studies than in any other way, and I most earnestly commend to all readers a little book, costing only 25 cents, entitled "The Tabernacle" or "The Gospel According to Moses," by George Rodgers (Am. S. S. Union, 1816 Chestnut, Philadelphia). The spiritual lessons from the temple are very similar, but with more of the kingdom outlook.

Solomon began to build the temple 480 years after the Exodus (1 Kings vi, 1). If you add up the figures in Acts xiii, covering this period, you will make it 673, but if you subtract the 69 years of the oppression of all Israel in the days of the Judges, the accounts will agree perfectly. Out of fellowship with God means lost time, whether by a nation or an individual (Num. vi, 12; Job xxxi, 29). Solomon's temple was finished in the eleventh year of his reign, and it was plundered just thirty-four years after, in the fifth year of Rehoboam (1 Kings vi, 37, 38; 11, 25, 26). This was just the time between the birth of the Messiah, the true temple, and His death. Zerubbabel built the second temple after the return from Babylon. At the time of Christ's ministry Herod had been rebuilding that temple forty-six years (John ii, 20). The last eight chapters of Ezekiel tell of a temple yet to be built when Israel shall be restored. Both tabernacle and temple were dwelling places for God in the midst of Israel. God was in Christ. Every true believer is now His temple (1 Cor. vi, 19, 20). The church, His body, now being built, is the temple in which we are for the present most interested (Eph. ii, 19-22). All the materials for tabernacle and temple were willing offerings (Ex. xxi, 2; xxxv, 29; 1 Chron. xxi, 3, 17). Christ gave Himself willingly for us (Eph. x, 5-9; John vi, 28). We must be willing offerings, keeping nothing back.

Remember the only foundation (1 Chron. iii, 1) spoken of in a previous lesson, the great cornerstone suggested by Moriah and Ornan's threatening food, and the silver sockets of the tabernacle boards and see 1 Cor. iii, 11. If we are truly in Christ we are living stones in the temple now being built (1 Pet. ii, 5), but as in the temple of our lesson every stone was made ready in the quarry or somewhere for its particular place in the building (1 Kings vi, 7), so, while the believer is a stone by the precious blood of Christ, we are being made fit for our places in the building by the daily training here. When the temple was finished and the ark set in its place in the holy of holies the glory of the Lord filled the house, so that the priests could not stand to minister (1 Kings viii, 1-11). It is our privilege thus to be spirit filled, so that self may find no place. Our special lesson verses are a little part of Solomon's great prayer at the dedication of the temple, in which he glorified God, saying, "Lord God of Israel, there is no God like Thee, who keepest covenant and mercy with Thy servants that walk before Thee with all their heart" (1 Kings viii, 26). He also praised God for fulfilling His word to David and asked Him to continue to do so (verses 24, 25). Then he asked the Lord that His eyes might be open night and day toward the house he had built for His name (verses 27-30).

He presented seven separate petitions concerning different matters, saying each time "Hear Thou in Heaven" or "Hear Thou in Heaven Thy dwelling place" (verses 30, 32, 34, 35, 37, 39, 40, 41). He pleaded that He would do this for Israel, as His inheritance, whom He had separated from among all the people of the earth, and that He would maintain their cause at all times, as the matter might require, or as in the margin, the thing of a day in his day (verses 51, 53, 59). This expression is found also in the story of the manna (Ex. xvi, 4, margin) and elsewhere, reminding us that His care is sure day by day as He has taught us to pray. His desire was "that all the people of the earth may know that the Lord is God and that there is none else" (verse 60). So it was also with Joshua and David and Hezekiah (Josh. iv, 24; 1 Sam. xvi, 46; 1 Kings xix, 19), and nothing less should be our desire.

Before he began to build he said, "The Lord my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor evil occurrent" (1 Kings vi, 11). And now he says, "Blessed be the Lord, that hath given rest unto His people Israel: * * * there hath not failed one word of all His good promise, which He promised by the hand of Moses, His servant" (verse 61). So also is it written in Josh. xxi, 45; xxiii, 14, and so it will be until the kingdom comes and we shall find that not one word has failed of all that God has spoken. He shall not fail nor be disappointed, and He shall see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied.

SUPT. C. M. HOWLAND IS BACK ON THE JOB

Back from the elite East with a whole gripful of new ideas, Superintendent Charles M. Howland would be more than pleased with a big audience to face at the First Christian Bible School tomorrow morning when he takes up his position on the platform. Superintendent Howland, did something but talk hats while in the big metropolis of the East. He visited two or three large Sunday schools and picked up quite a bunch of new ideas which he took careful pains to preserve. He will let the membership into his gleanings tomorrow, promising them something brand new and something worth while. With his return the singing will immediately reach its former high plane, and enthusiasm is bound to run riot. Be there with a well come for the superintendent and his good wife, who will at once resume her place as head of the Loyal Daughters, who have been running on low gear for the past few weeks. Incidentally this will mean that the Loyal Men will have to bestir themselves.

The pastor, Rev. Charles R. Oakley, announces that his subject for the morning sermon will be "A Borderline Christian." In the evening his subject will be "Why I Am a Christian Only." Be sure and hear these sermons, for they promise to be very helpful and inspiring.

It became known Saturday that the Scioto County Anti-Saloon League had made a request for the appearance of Hon. William Jennings Bryan in Portsmouth during the wet and dry fight which is to be staged in Scioto county this fall preparatory to Ohio voting on statewide prohibition early in November.

Mr. Bryan's ability as an orator is world famous and if definite arrangements are made for his appearance in the River City he is sure to receive a most hearty welcome. According to telegraphic information sent out from Toledo, Friday, Mr. Bryan is to figure actively in the campaign that is to be made to have Ohio embrace prohibition in November.

Through Attorney F. T. Moreland Elbert McJohnson is asking a new trial of his damage suit against James A. Maxwell for $300 personal injury damages. Judge Thomas at a trial in common pleas court this week took the case away from the jury and ordered a verdict for the defendant.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS Flush the Kidneys at once when Back-ache or Bladder bothers—Most forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter, or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular must eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Intellectualism. Intellectual culture has no necessary relation to purity or excellence of character. In the new testament, apostles are constantly made to the heart of man and to the spirit we are of, whilst allusions to the intellect are of rare occurrence.—Samuel Smiles.

CZARINA GOES INTO HOSPITALS AS A RED CROSS SISTER

Top, Czarina and her daughters, the Grand Duchesses Olga and Tatiana, entertaining wounded soldiers. Bottom, autographed portrait of the Empress of Russia as a Red Cross sister.

The Czarina of Russia is setting a wonderful example to all the royal households of the warring nations of Europe. While other queens and princesses have done much to help the stricken people and wounded soldiers of their countries, the Czarina has devoted all her time and resources to aid and has gone in person as a Red Cross nurse into the hospitals. With her in the service of the injured are her daughters, the Grand Duchesses Olga and Tatiana.

Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head-colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

COMPLETE TEXT OF UNITED STATES NOTE TO GERMANY

Washington, July 24—Following is the official text of the latest note to Germany regarding submarine warfare which was delivered in the foreign office at Berlin yesterday by Ambassador Gerard:

You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the Imperial German government, dated the eighth of July, 1915, has received the careful consideration of the government of the United States, and it regrets to be obliged to say that it has found it very unsatisfactory, because it fails to meet the real differences between the two governments and indicates no way in which the accepted principles of law and humanity may be applied in the grave matter in controversy, but proposes, on the contrary, arrangements for a partial suspension of those principles, which virtually set them aside.

"The government of the United States notes with satisfaction that the Imperial German government recognizes without reservation the validity of the principles insisted on in the several communications which this government has addressed to the Imperial Government with regard to its announcement of a war zone and the use of submarines against merchantmen on the high seas—the principle that the high seas are free, that the character and cargo of merchantmen must first be ascertained before she can lawfully be seized or destroyed and that the lives of non-combatants may in no case be put in jeopardy unless to escape after being summoned to submit to examination; for a belligerent act of retaliation is per se, an act beyond the law, and the defense of an act as retaliatory is an admission that it is illegal.

"The government of the United States is, however, keenly disappointed to find that the Imperial government regards itself as in large degree exempt from the obligation to observe these principles, even where neutral vessels are concerned, by what it believes the policy and practice of the government of Great Britain to be in the present war, with regard to neutral commerce. The Imperial German government will readily understand that the government of the United States cannot discuss the policy of the government of Great Britain with regard to neutral trade, except with that government itself, and that it must regard the conduct of other belligerent governments as irrelevant to any discussion with the Imperial German government of what this government regards as grave and justifiable violation of the rights of American citizens by German naval commanders. Illegal and inhuman acts, however justifiable they may be thought to be against an enemy who is believed to have acted in contravention of law and humanity, are manifestly indefensible when they deprive neutrals of their acknowledged rights, particularly when they violate the right to life itself.

"If a belligerent cannot retaliate against an enemy without injuring the lives of neutrals, as well as their property, as humanity as well as justice, and a due regard for the dignity of neutral powers should dictate that the practice be discontinued. If persisted in it would in such circumstances constitute an unpardonable offense against the sovereignty of the neutral nation affected. The government of the United States is not unmindful of the extraordinary conditions created by this war, or of the radical alterations of circumstances and method of attack produced by the instrumentality of naval warfare which the nations of the world cannot have had in view when the existing rules of international law were formulated, and it is ready to make every reasonable allowance for those novel and unexpected aspects of war at sea; but it cannot consent to abate any essential or fundamental right of its people because of a mere alteration of circumstance. The rights of neutrals in time of war are based upon principle, not upon expediency, and the principles are immutable. It is the duty and obligation of belligerents to find a way to adapt the new circumstances to them.

"The events of the past two months have clearly indicated that it is possible and practicable to conduct such submarine operations as have characterized the activity of the Imperial German navy within the so-called war zone in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare. The whole world has looked with interest and increasing satisfaction at the demonstration, of that possibility by German naval commanders. It is manifestly possible, therefore, to life the whole practice of submarine attack above the criticism which it has aroused and remove the chief causes of offense.

"In view of the admission of illegality made by the Imperial government when it pleaded the right of retaliation in defense of its acts, and in view of the manifest possibility of conforming to the established rules of naval warfare, the government of the United States cannot believe that the Imperial Government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton act of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania, or from offering reparation for the American lives lost; so far as reparation can be made for a needless destruction of human life by an illegal act.

"The government of the United States, while not indifferent to the friendly spirit in which it is made, can not accept the suggestion of the Imperial German government that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall be free on the seas now illegally proscribed. The very agreement would, by implication, subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment of the principles for which this government contends and which, in times of calmer counsel every nation would concede as of course.

"The government of the United States and the Imperial German government are contending for the same great object, have stood together in urging the very principles upon which the government of the United States now so solemnly insists. They are both contending for the freedom of the seas. The government of the United States will continue to contend for that freedom, from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost. It invites the practical co-operation of the Imperial German government at this time when co-operation may accomplish most and this great common object be most strikingly and effectively achieved.

"The Imperial German government expresses the hope that this object may be in some measure accomplished even before the present war ends. It can be. The government of the United States not only feels obliged to insist upon it, by whomsoever violated or ignored, in the protection of its own citizens, but is also deeply interested in seeing it made practicable between the belligerents themselves, and holds itself ready at any time to act as the common friend who may be privileged to suggest a way.

"In the meantime the very value which this government sets upon the long and unbroken friendship between the people and government of the United States and the people and government of the German nation impels it to press very solemnly upon the Imperial German government the necessity for a scrupulous observance of neutral rights in this critical matter. Friendship itself prompts it to say to the Imperial government that repetition by the commanders of the German naval vessels of acts in contravention of those rights must be regarded by the government of the United States when they affect American citizens as deliberately unfriendly."

NEW U. S. NOTE IS DEMAND ON KAISER

Washington, July 24—With the publication today of the note warning Germany that any acts by her submarine commanders in violation of American rights would be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly," the United States government awaited further developments.

The note does not necessarily call for a reply. It leaves the way open, however, for an answer from Germany disavowing the sinking of the Lusitania and offering reparation, submitting assurances as to the future actions of her naval officers, and even asking directly for mediation by the United States between the German and British governments on the general subject of warfare on the sea.

The use in the note of the phrase "deliberately unfriendly" is viewed here as expressing the final word of the United States government regarding Germany's submarine warfare. The United States does not abate in any respect, but rather more strongly insists upon, the demands made in previous notes that Germany acquiesce in its views that the rules of international law and humanity be obeyed in her naval warfare.

The United States government cannot believe, the note says, that

"the Imperial government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton acts of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania" and making reparation for the lives of Americans lost in the disaster. It announces that the government will continue to contend for the freedom of the seas "from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost."

The note also invites the practical co-operation of the German government in an effort to bring about the freedom of the seas, declares that the American government cannot discuss actions of Great Britain and that it regards as "irrelevant" in the present notions the conduct of other belligerents, points out that recent events have clearly indicated that it is "practical and possible" to conduct submarine warfare "in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare" and rejects Germany's proposal "that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall free on the seas now illegally proscribed."

The note is now in the hands of the German government and no reply is expected for several weeks. President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing had left Washington today.

ABDUCTOR OF YOUTH CAUGHT BY COWBOYS

Idaho Falls, Idaho, July 24.—The ransom demanded for the safe return of Ernest A. Empey, wealthy rancher, who with his young son was kidnapped from his ranch on Tuesday will not be paid. Empey today is in safe hands in Montpelier, and his abductor whose name has not yet been learned here, is under arrest.

Empey arrived late yesterday at a lumber camp in the woods near Montpelier. He told of having escaped while his captor slept. Soon afterwards a posse of cowboys reported capture of the abductor whose location was given by Empey.

SAYS GERMANY WON'T STOP SUBMARINE WAR

Berlin, Via London, July 24.—The American note was not published in this morning's Berlin newspapers but probably will appear in the afternoon editions. Count Ernest von Reventlow in an article in the Tages Zeitung headed "Underground Anxieties" declares that no matter what the note contains, the submarine campaign will not be restricted. So far as the German empire is concerned, he says, there can be no further question of its attitude. Germany's stand has been taken, Count Von Reventlow asserts, and it will be maintained. The Lokal Anzeiger says the contents of the American note does not preclude the possibility of further negotiations between Washington and Berlin.

"BUY OHIO COAL" AND AID MANY DESTITUTE

Columbus, O., July 24—"Buy Ohio Coal."

This is the slogan for a campaign started recently in Athens and gradually spread over the state, which was called to the attention of Governor Willis today. He commented favorably as a means of remedying conditions in the Ohio coal fields, where thousands of miners are idle as a result of loss of business by Ohio operators.

John M. Roan, state mining commissioner, brought news of the movement to show Ohio coal preference to the governor after an inspection tour of the Southern Ohio and Hocking Valley fields. He told how hundreds of women and children, dependent on coal miners, have been starving and improperly clad for months because there is no work and no money to buy food and clothing.

"I went into a grocery store in the Hocking region," said Mr. Roan. "The proprietor was idle. He had nothing to do because he had nothing to sell. His shelves were so bare I could have carried his stock in my arms. He was in as bad a shape as many miners. That is only a typical example of sad conditions in the Hocking coal field."

Both miners and operators as well as if Ohio people when they order winter coal insist that the dealers furnish coal mined in this state, business will improve temporarily and the conditions of poverty among miners' families will be alleviated.

Later the miners and operators plan to unite in fighting for a lowering of rates charged by railroads for hauling Ohio coal. A complaint against these rates filed by miners is now pending before the public utilities commission.

Want Every Scioto County Citizen Interested In Fair

ALBERTA GOES DRY

Edmonton, Alberta, July 24.—The province of Alberta was voted dry at the election here several days ago. Complete returns received today indicate that the vote to exclude saloons was about 2 to 1.

All the cities voted dry except Lethbridge. Edmonton went dry by 3,600 and Calgary by about 3,800. The saloons will go on July 1 next.

Extent of His Unpopularity. "I am so cordially detested in this community on account of my plain speaking," confessed Grant P. Smith, "that I shrewdly suspect that if I sought to obtain some deadly drug with which to commit suicide the druggist would substitute some harmless imitation, simply for the pleasure of fooling me."—Kansas City Star.

Efforts of the members of the Scioto County Agricultural Society are to be directed this year toward having everybody interested in the fair. Unless the fair is one in which the community takes an interest it can not be a complete success. Directors of the Agricultural Society are appealing to every individual in Scioto county to interest himself or herself as the case may be, in this year's Scioto county fair.

The fair is a good or a poor advertisement for Scioto county according to the displays and exhibits and the interest shown. Many people attend from outside the county and their opinion of the local section of the country is molded by the size and success of the fair.

Every Scioto county citizen should make this fair his or her fair, state the directors of the agricultural association. The directors alone can not make the fair a success—it depends mostly upon the people.

Liberal premiums are to be offered this year and every effort extended by the directors to make this year's fair a success. Displays of products and stock are urgently solicited.

On one page of the Times today the directors of the Agricultural Association are carrying an advertisement that will interest every citizen in Scioto county. It is a part of your duty as a citizen to look it up and read it.

POLICE TAKE RIFLES FROM OIL STRIKERS

New York, July 24—Discovery and seizure by the police of fifty rifles and bayonets stored in a hall used by the strikers of the Standard Oil Plant in Bayonne, N. J., caused fears today that the men were planning further serious disorders. Reports were circulated that the strikers had collected a fund of several hundred dollars with which to purchase ammunition.

As a result of rumors that the men were arming themselves, the Bayonne police made a sudden raid upon the hall early today, and despite the presence of a large number of strikers in front of the building, carried the weapons off to police headquarters. So unexpected was the move that the strikers made no attempt to prevent it.

Soon afterwards two men were arrested and charged with placing heavy iron pipes on the tracks of the Lehigh railroad at the entrance to the oil plant. Desultory shots were fired by the guards about the plant at intervals during the night, but there was no concerted outbreak. The Governor Pinder still hesitated to call out the troops upon Sheriff Kincaid's recent appeals for a guard of soldiers around the plant.

HERE'S THE CITY HALL IN BELEAGUED WARSAW

BOTH THE PROFIT AND THE PLEASURE

To be sure we are in business for the gain we expect to get out of it, but there is something else we are in it for too, and that is the pleasure of it.

So far, with a constant and ever increasing growth and development we haven't been able to experience any profits in the way of dividends, but we've got a mighty lot of satisfaction out of it to make up for the failure of our calculations as to cash returns.

Yes, sir, or madam, believe it or not, we have got and are getting a whole lot of satisfaction out of this business because we are able to do so much for the comfort and convenience of others. And do you know that is another wonder in this wonderful thing electric service, that bobs up to the mind in considering it. Indeed, electricity is the finest luxury in the world, and yet it isn't a luxury either, for that which makes the situation of the human being easier, contributes to his comfort, saves him exertion and works a convenience to him, is not, after all, a luxury, it is an utility, with knowledge making it border close on to a necessity.

You place an electric fan in your office, or business place. Some one comes in, gets a whiff of the fresh and cool breezes it is gently humming forth, and exclaims: "My this is a luxury. But it isn't, it is a joy, a pleasure, an investment and a profit in more ways than one. Look at it and see. You are under the oppressive heat and humidity, your visitor is made to feel good. So you are in a better condition to present him your wares, be they mental or material and he is put in better mood to receive your presentation; in other words the chances of an agreement and a deal between you are largely promoted by that fan.

Another product of it, your physical betterment. More people get run down in the summer time than during all the other divisions of the year. Why? Because of the heat and the peculiarity of the atmosphere. Things on fretting, worrying and complaining and that wears down the body, puts it out of kilter and makes one think he is sick, when he really isn't. The electric fan stands against that. Its revolutions bring a distinct lowering of the temperature of the room, its revolutions dry up the humidity by friction and the agitation changes and cleanses the air you are breathing, making for wholesomeness and invigoration and in addition leaves you in a more natural and so less wearing mental poise.

These are big benefits and because they are big many people get the idea they are costly. That is altogether wrong. As we are fond of saying the cheapest and best thing in the world at the price is electricity, and the price is reasonable, even low here, comparatively speaking, to what is paid elsewhere. A good sized fan can be bought for a few dollars and it will last for many years. The cost of operating amounts to only a few cents a day. Your comfort, a pleasant impression made upon those who come to visit you is worth that much, worth a great deal more in fact. By installing a fan you'll get just as much satisfaction out of it as we do in the thought that we are ministering to the comfort of fellow mortals, and much more benefit.

True, a good part of the summer is gone, but there is that awful August yet to come and we certainly do have "some weather" in September sometimes, so don't put the installation of a fan off until next summer. This summer is the accepted time.

Yours to serve,

300 TO 1,000 DROWN AT CHICAGO EXCURSION BOAT TURNS OVER. 2,500 ABOARD MORE THAN 300 BODIES ARE RECOVERED

CHICAGO, July 24--At 9:40 A. M. more than 300 bodies had been recovered from the steamer Eastland wreck. This statement was made by S. C. Carter who examined the bodies.

The News says it is estimated that 1,000 people are either drowned or missing.

Chicago, July 24--An Associated Press man, who got by the guards on the Theodore Roosevelt counted one hundred and fifty bodies in the cabin on that boat. Most of these were women.

Chicago, July 24--From 300 to 1000 persons are believed to have been drowned by the capsizing of the steamship Eastland at her dock in the Chicago river shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. However, only twenty-five bodies had been recovered at 8:50 o'clock and those in charge of life saving expressed the hope that the estimated number of victims may have been exaggerated. Most of the bodies recovered are those of women and children.

The steamer had been chartered for the day by the Western Electric Co. employees who had planned an excursion to Michigan City, Indiana. Passengers were crowded on the ship long before the hour it was to leave. When the boat slowly tilted towards the middle of the river it is said that 2,500 people were aboard.

When the boat started to tip the officers shouted warnings but it was too late. The loaded steamer continued to roll and the hawsers which held it to the dock snapped.

A moment later amid the screams of passengers the steamer turned over on its side and floated out into the middle of the river. Apparently scores of women and children in the cabin were drowned without being given a chance to escape. Hundreds of other passengers were able to climb on the side of the boat which was above water and were later taken off by rescuers.

Life preservers were cast into the river from the steamship Theodore Roosevelt, which was docked across the river and scores of the Eastland's passengers clung to them until picked up by boats.

City fireboats, police launches and lifeboats from nearby steamers in the river rushed to the rescue. A hole was cut through the side of the lower deck by life savers and the bodies of six victims, five of whom were women were soon taken out. L. D. Gadory, employed as a "candy butcher" on the steamer was the first eye witness to tell a detailed story of the accident.

"It was about 7:40 this morning and the boat was lying at the dock near Clark street bridge loading with passengers," said Gadory. "We were to leave in twenty minutes and the upper deck and cabins were crowded with passengers. There were hundreds of women and children. I believe that there were between two and three thousand on the boat at the time of the accident. I was standing on the tower deck near the gang plank watching the people come aboard. Suddenly I noticed the boat list towards the center of the river. It rolled slightly at first and then seemed to stop. Then it started to roll again. I became alarmed and shouted to the crowd to keep still. Apparently a majority of the passengers were on one side of the boat and this had overweighted it and caused it to list. Suddenly the hawsers which held the boat to the dock snapped and the officers pulled the gang plank in and refused to allow any more on the boat.

"At this time everybody was panic stricken. Women screamed and men tried to quiet them. I attempted to reach an upper deck but could not because of the crowd and excitement and ran back to the port side where the gangway had been. The boat then slowly drifted from the dock, rolling as it slipped into mid-stream and a moment later it had turned over on its side. I climbed over on the side of the boat and stayed there until I was taken off by life savers. Many of the passengers leaped into the water as the boat went over. Scores of others were caught in the cabins and drowned. When the small boats began coming out to us I worked with other survivors in taking passengers out of the water and cutting holes in the cabins to remove bodies."

Mrs. Paul Ina Vantak, the mother of three children was among the drowned. Her children were believed to have been lost.

Henry Vantak, the woman's husband, was pulled out of the water.

"I could not believe the boat was turning over," Vantak said. "About a dozen of the 150 persons on the upper decks jumped. The rest were thrown into the river.

"I did not see my wife or children after the boat turned. They were carried into the river with the crowd. Some one grabbed me around the neck and kept pulling me. It was a woman but I could not save her."

Policeman Henry H. Beeher, one of the first to go to the rescue, gave a vivid description of the accident. "I saw scores of men and women, many of them holding children, plunge into the river. I jumped into a rowboat and pulled out the drowning. I think I got about fifty ashore. Tugs hurried to the scene and picked up more. We grabbed those nearest us first. At one time I had four women in the boat with me."

POLICE TAKE RIFLES FROM OIL STRIKERS

New York, July 24--Discovery and seizure by the police of fifty rifles and bayonets stored in a hall used by the strikers of the Standard Oil Plant in Bayonne, N. J., caused fears today that the men were planning further serious disorders. Reports were circulated that the strikers had collected a fund of several hundred dollars with which to purchase ammunition.

As a result of rumors that the men were arming themselves, the Bayonne police made a sudden raid upon the hall early today, and despite the presence of a large number of strikers in front of the building, carried the weapons off to police headquarters. So unexpected was the move that the strikers made no attempt to prevent it.

Soon afterwards two men were arrested and charged with placing heavy iron pipes on the tracks of the Lehigh railroad at the entrance to the oil plant. Desultory shots were fired by the guards about the plant at intervals during the night, but there was no concerted outbreak. Governor Fielder still hesitated to call out the troops upon Sheriff Kinkead's recent appeals for a guard of soldiers around the plant.

NEW U. S. NOTE IS DEMAND ON KAISER

Washington, July 24--With the publication today of the note warning Germany that any acts by her submarine commanders in violation of American rights would be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly", the United States government awaited further development.

The note does not necessarily call for a reply. It leaves the way open, however, for an answer from Germany disavowing the sinking of the Lusitania and offering reparation, submitting assurances as to the future actions of her naval officers, and even asking directly for mediation by the United States between the German and British governments on the general subject of warfare on the sea.

The use in the note of the phrase "deliberately unfriendly" is viewed here as expressing the final word of the United States government regarding Germany's submarine warfare. The United States does not abate in any respect, but rather more strongly insists upon the demands made in previous notes that Germany acquiesce in its views that the rules of international law and humanity be obeyed in her naval warfare.

The United States government cannot believe, the note says, that "the Imperial government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton acts of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania" and making reparation for the lives of Americans lost in the disaster. It announces that the government will continue to contend for the freedom of the seas "from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost."

The note also invites the practical co-operation of the German government in an effort to bring about the freedom of the seas, declares that the American government cannot discuss actions of Great Britain and that it regards as "irrelevant" in the present nations the conduct of other belligerents, points out that recent events have clearly indicated that it is "practical and possible" to conduct submarine warfare "in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare" and rejects Germany's proposal "that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall free on the seas now illegally proscribed."

The note is now in the hands of the German government and no reply is expected for several weeks. President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing had left Washington today.

TY COBB SHOWS WAY; EDDIE COLLINS SECOND

Georgia Peach Is Hitting At .408 Clip; Here Are Averages

Chicago, July 24.—Eddie Collins, has climbed into second place among the American League batters with an average of .408. Ty Cobb is far from 50-50 with a percentage of .398 for the season, according to averages published here today, including records of Wednesday. The leading batter, including only those who played in half the total games or more, are:

Cobb, Detroit, .408; Collins, Chicago, .398; Veach, Detroit, .388; Jackson, Cleveland, .387; Crawford, Detroit, .380; Souther, Chicago, .378; Speaker, Boston, .377; Strunk, Philadelphia, .377; Lajoie, Philadelphia, .368; Malsb, New York, .367.

Detroit leads in club hitting, with 272 and Chicago is second with 265. Cobb still retains as leading base stealer, with 61, and as run getter with 88. Crawford leads in total bases, with 420.

Collins who have averaged a 100 average in twenty or more games are: Wood, Boston, .318; Foster, Boston, .317; Baker, Chicago, .321; Scott, Chicago, .322; Shore, Boston, .322; Daus, Detroit, .321; Johnston, Washington, .320; Benz, Chicago, .320; Coveleski, Detroit, .320; Caldwell, New York, .319; Gallia, Washington, .319 and Ayers, Washington, .300.

Jake Daubert, the Brooklyn slugger continues at the head of the batters in the national league with a percentage of .371. Larry Doyle, of New York is next with .375 while Mearle, New York has .323. The other batters in the 300 class are:

Groh, Cincinnati, .319; Ludwick, Philadelphia, .317; Robertson, New York, .314; Snyder, St. Louis, .310; J. Smith, Boston, .306; Saler, Chicago, .302 and Kilfer, Cincinnati, .300. Vic Saler, who was injured early this week, while on the eastern trip, is the leading run getter with 51. He also holds the honors for total bases with 164 and is leading the league with stolen bases, having 22 to his credit.

AWAY 12 DAYS

Portsmouth left Saturday on a 12 day trip, the first stop being at Trenton, where four games will be played. Then the team drops down to Lexington for four warm-up games and at the conclusion of this series the Spencertons will go to Charleston and meet Biddy Beers' crew. Charleston has planned two booster days during this series and the banner crowds of the season are anticipated.

Sharman Led Way With Old War Club

Small wonder that Portsmouth beat Charleston three out of four in their recent series and treated Trenton to the same dose in the series wound up yesterday.

The team batting average was only .207, which means that the club as a unit hit at a .207 clip in eight games. Ralph Sharman finished his way into fame in this series and was followed by Hancock, McHenry, Dillinger, Jacobus and Spencer. McHenry hit at a terrific clip for the first three games, but then lost a night day or two with the stick, which kept him from being the real topnotcher. Just after a pep

Has Won 11 In Row

The fans were pulling for Student Test to pitch a shutout against the Ironclads and he would have accomplished the feat had he not eased up a bit in the ninth. He was blazing them right through the center of the plate when Calbert and Taylor secured their long snatches. At that Test pitched one of his best games of the season and incidentally it was his eleventh straight victory.

Wields Brutal Club

The fans love the players who can lace the pill. When Calbert cracked one over the fence in the fifth he was applauded all the time he remained in touching each crack. The ball sailed over the left center fence and it was the second time this season that Calbert turned the same trick. He wields a brutal war club.

CENTRAL WEST TO HAVE CRACK TEAM AT NATIONAL A. A. U. MEET

The central west will be represented by a formidable team in the National A. A. U. outdoor track and field championships, to be held at San Francisco August 6 and 7. This was fully demonstrated in the trials held by the Central A. A. U. on Stagg field in Chicago. One of the sensations of this preliminary meet was the work of Joie Ray, Illinois Athletic club, who did the mile in 4:16 2-5, beating the National A. A. U. championship time of 4:18 3-5 and coming within three and four-fifths seconds of the world's amateur record established by Norman S. Taber of Brown university a few days ago.

Some of central west representatives: Top, Joie Ray, setting mile-run mark, and Robert Simpson, 120-yard high hurdle man; bottom, A. Richards, running high jumper, and L. Talbot, who does things with the weights.

The Passing Of Jim Thorpe

The passing of Jim Thorpe, famous all-round athlete and winner of the Olympic games individual honors at Stockholm, as a baseball player again demonstrated the fact that big league managers are not infallible judges of diamond material.

John McGraw, of the New York Giants signed Thorpe to an expensive contract after India had been declared a professional by the Amateur Athletic Union. Although Thorpe did not revolutionize baseball during his early days with team McGraw repeatedly declared that the Indian would make good.

Thorpe's inability to hit anything except straight ball-pitching, which opposing pitchers took care that he did not get, proved too great a handicap, for even this great athlete. Passed on to the Jersey City club, of the International league, his weakness was so apparent to all pitchers that the ill-fated Thorpe was dropped from the class AA league as valueless.

LOYALTY DAY FIXED FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 5TH

That "Loyalty Day" for the local team of the Ohio State league will prove a genuine success, was shown by the enthusiastic meeting held at the Times office Friday night which was attended by twenty of the live and loyal fans of Portsmouth. The committee further organized by the election of St. Straus as secretary-treasurer, and before the meeting adjourned had given out about 600 tickets to the various committees.

However, it has been necessary to change the date of Loyalty Day, which had originally been fixed as Thursday, July 29. According to the new schedule just issued by President Carr, the team will be away from home on that day. Accordingly, Loyalty Day will be observed at Millbrook Park on Thursday, August 5, and the Maysville team will be the Gobbler's opponents. The fans as printed here the date of Thursday, July 29, but they will be used on August 5 as the committee did not care to go to the expense of having new tags printed.

The tickets are now on sale at various centers and the committee expects to conduct a vigorous campaign. They hope to sell 1,000 and you will be doing the question "Hello, have you been tagged?" from now on. John Kirbyne did not even wait for the fans to come his way, but dispatched 50 to the committee even before the tickets were delivered. Mr. Kirbyne showed his interest in 34th degree manner and the committee is waiting for more of the same kind.

The buyers of tickets or tags are requested to wear them where they can be seen. This will help advertise the event and will result in the sale of more tickets.

Come on, now, for a loyal fan—buy a tag—help a good thing along.

Was Sore At Test

If a fellow can't hit you he simply can't hit the ball. That's all. Student Test after flying weekly to Trenton in the sixth inning Friday, Stadfelt was so pained because Test had his good bat he folded supply. He eased up one rounder and should have caught up a perfect pop, but Stadfelt dropped the ball each time. He failed to get the ball out of the infield.

Leon Ames is no longer a member of the Reds. He has been turned over to the St. Louis Nationals, but must make good before the management of this club assumes the contract Ames had with the Reds.

NAILERS RALLY IN NINTH, SAVES TEAM A SHUTOUT

S UDDENLY seized with a merciful impulse, Pitcher Test slackened his pace just long enough in the ninth inning of the Portsmouth-Trenton game at Millbrook Friday to permit the Taylor crew to chalk up three runs. Lavender's single opened the inning and was the third hit the Ironclads had amassed off Test's offerings, the tall hurler being very effective.

Olson skied to right and Stadfelt was tossed out by Test and it looked like a three hit shut-out as up to the ninth Gilmore had secured the only two hits made off Test, but Taylor zipped a triple between Sharman and McHenry, scoring Lavender and Calbert, one over the fence, Taylor scoring ahead of him. These runners all that the visitors scored and they were defeated 6 to 3.

Portsmouth as on the day before started scoring right off the reel. Dillhoefer singled to right and Calton tripled far over Taylor's head. Dillhoefer scoring. Sharman was thrown out by Lavender, but the color scheme just suited Johnson and his clean smash to right opened the inning. Stadfelt's error on McHenry's grounder, Spencer's hit and Dillhoefer's second hit scored another run in the sixth. That Portsmouth wonched the game. Johnson filed to right scoring by making a long slide at home. Spencer hit one safe and when Test looped one over second, two more runs were scored and the game was tied.

In the second inning Gilmore sent a pop single to left and in the eighth he beat out a bouncer, which Calton would have fielded had not Test tried to knock it down. These were all the hits the Nailers drew together until the fulsome ninth when Test became a trifle careless and permitted three runs to trickle over the pan.

Oh well, we should worry, three out of four from Trenton is no bad. No not so worse. The game in figures:

Test was never in danger and simply relied on the corners during the closing innings.

Sharman is hitting the ball brutally these days. All of his hits are hard line smashes.

The Trenton team will have to play better ball at home than it did here if the team wants to be up there in the second half.

Stadfelt at short was off his stride in the series and put his pitchers in bad by making errors just when good fielding was needed.

The team will be quartered at the Olive hotel while in Trenton.

Catcher Mills continues to improve and may reach the city the first of the week. He is getting around on scratches.

HE'S A TY COBB OUT ON COAST

Jack Ness. Jack Ness' wonderful work with the stick has braced the Oakland bench up during the last few weeks. They were tottering and slipping and they could not muster up enough of the old red fire stuff to get them by. Ness, however, kept on hitting, and the more frequently he hit the harder his teammates labored to help the worthy cause along. Now the club is in line to do a lot of good for itself.

SIMPLE ENOUGH.

In discussing safety from lightning stroke in Jackson county, they have brought out the fact that fewer women die from electric stroke than men. This may seem odd, but the explanation of it is simple enough. The chances of a person being killed by lightning is not so great as one in a hundred million—sufficient reasons why one should not take a fright every time she sees a flash of heat current in the summer night. More men die from Jove's bolts because they wander abroad more and in storm seek shelter from the rain in locations liable to be hit places like barns and trees, for instance, while women, as a rule, are in doors. If when one is caught in the harvest field or along the highway in a rain he would find along and not drive under shed or tree, more especially the latter, and above all keep away, when seeking a dry place, chance of being hit by lightning would be so small as to not be worth giving thought to. This is clearly enough demonstrated, that it is quite common to read of cattle being killed during an electric storm. For the reason is stock always seeks the shelter of a tree. The sweat and gases from their bodies, distinctly so on a warm day, are conductors of electricity and their drawing powers as such enhanced by the tree being the highest object in the adjacent landscape.

BOSH AND BACON.

The boiler plate section of the G. O. P. press is making a lovely talk about our good young governor staying at home from the exposition because a high sense of public office makes him set duty above pleasure. Oh, such stuff! The good young governor is staying at home because he thinks his own bacon can best be saved by getting Democrats out of the offices and parading out the latter to some old chums and college mates from Ada; and on top of that he knows a bull in a china shop would not be a circumstance to Jack Arnold left to rampage around in the governor's office for a brief spell.

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

Conning the list of bids for highway improvements in many Ohio counties we observe that for two and half miles of brick road in Scioto the lowest bid is $44,000, while in Stark for the same length, the lowest is $58,000. That is a total difference of $14,000, almost $5,000 to the mile in favor of Scioto.

Great as that is, though, it is not all of the advantage to Scioto county. The chances are far and away that she will get the best brick, made right here at home, getting profit at that, and also better work as observation and experience have taught both officials and people what is the proper way and specifications upon which to lay vitrified brick.

Just in passing, there isn't a daintier spot in the land, and that means the world, than that Munn's Run, up which the proposed brick road is to take its way, and the charm thereof will be enhanced by a smooth, hard driveway. Turning to the practical side, that same driveway is going to make the Run the garden spot of Scioto county.

Say, after all, it's a blessed thing to have your lines cast in Scioto county!

An interesting personality passed from the stage of life the other day when death claimed John Cotton Haskell Cobb, aged 82, of Wellston. He was a son-in-law of Hon. H. K. Bimby and a brother-in-law of Harvey Wells and like them was actively identified with the growth of Wellston. Mr. Cobb was a man who took a deep interest in civic affairs in his home town. He was ever ready to lend his time and his services towards correcting municipal abuses, bringing suits at his own expense, writing cards to the papers and leading forth his community. Men of Mr. Cobb's courage and persistency in fighting wrong doing are rather rare and his passing is a loss not only to his own community but to those who believe in good citizenship and faithful public service in all communities.

By the way, we don't hear Serivice Director Gorgens making any noise. He is too busy seeing that the work of his office is industriously and thoroughly done to be making any noises. And at that, as things go these days, he's a pretty fortunate man in having two such intelligent and capable assistants as Foley and Thomas.

It has turned out just as we said, and we are no prophet either. Our good young Governor is very deeply perturbed over the state auditor saying his administration will cost four millions more for the first year than did Jim Cox's, and he hates to yell and flap it because the wicked and crafty Democrat left a raft of "old bills" for him to pay. The defence is good as an ingenious excuse, but it lacks the essential basis of truth.

He who runs away lives to fight another day. True, but the Russians appear to be carrying the suggestion too far, in more ways than one at that.

The G. O. P. organs tell in one paragraph that Democratic free trade is ruining the country by bringing in foreign competition, and in the very next insist not an article of manufacture has been reduced by "free trade." Do they actually take the people to be such fools as to swallow both in rapid "concession."

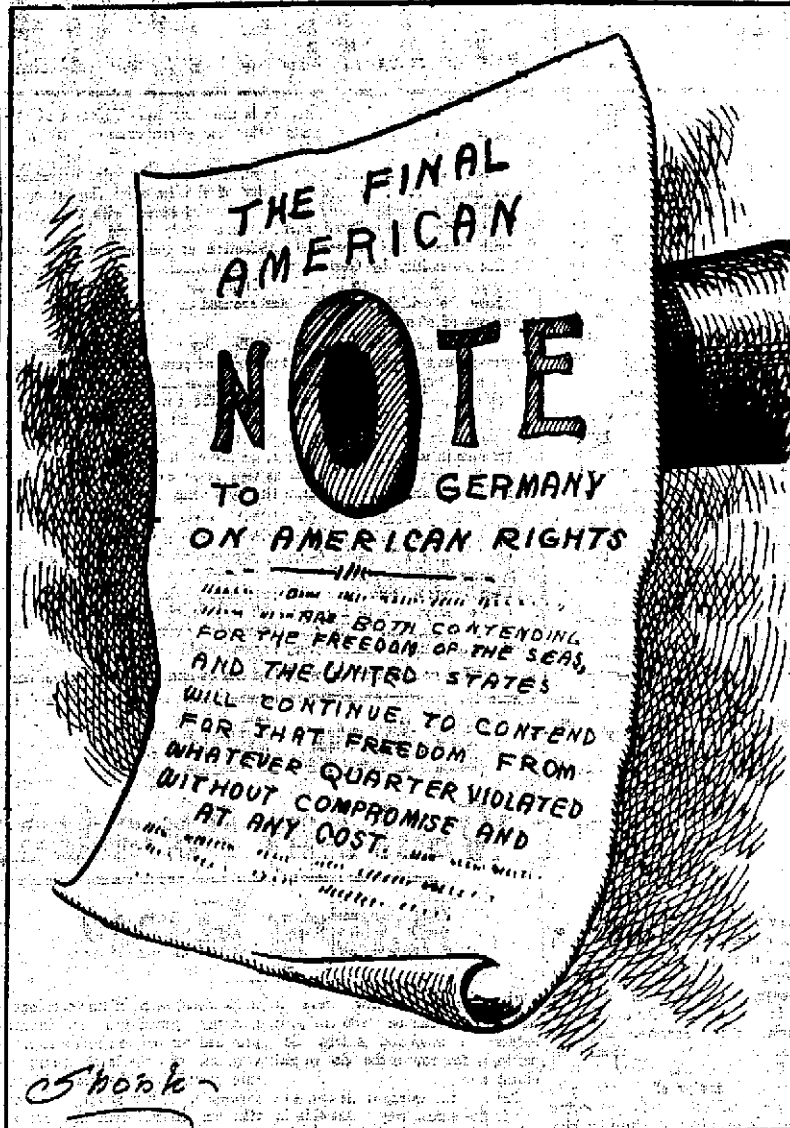

Bandits want to kidnap Prophet Smith, head of the Mormon church, and the police are trying to prevent them from so doing. The question is, what does either contingent want with him?

The temporary bridge across the Scioto is going to be rebuilt, which just reminds us that that bridge is the temporary temporary thing we ever knew.

Carranza gives decree forth that he is the government of Mexico. Before he can convince any one of that he will have first to show that he knows what a government is.

We are told "the new water works have been in successful operation since November 4th last," but as a matter of fact it has been barely possible to keep them going. We don't know of anything that statecraft reminds us so much of as that Gallia pike is navigable through New Boston.

Really, a most delightful climate, in streaks.

JUST AS EASY.

It was "easy" in Harry Bannan to call upon the other fellows to pledge themselves and their men to support the ticket, as he and his'n had already done. It gave the impression the various camps were ripe with treason ready to break forth in insurrection if the mayoralty fight did not come out to the particular fancy of each. But there is nothing in his artifice, as a matter of fact. The would-be bosses, camp followers, office aspirants, and suttlers, that ever attach themselves to any political enterprise, are ready and enthusiastic to make any pledge before hand and, yow regularly is particularly to their hand. Strange, though, with all this being true, that such consternation could be wrought by the Bannan ruse. It just shows that the politicians are too busy intent on deceiving others that they are regular "suckers" themselves.

The appointment of Mr. C. K. Patterson, of Piketon, as a member of the new state board of agriculture, is one that will meet with general approval in Southern Ohio, where Mr. Patterson is recognized as one of the best posted men on agricultural problems in the state. He is alert and active and he should make a most excellent member. The Times joins with other friends of Mr. Patterson in congratulating him upon his selection and we wish him all kinds of success.

Up at Ironton an automobile club has a system of taking the bull by the horns and taking care of bad stretches of roads on its own account. Apparently they have commissioners up there who refuse to aid in keeping county roads in passable shape and so the automobile club steps in and does what the county ought to do. Thus the auto club has employed men to fix up a stretch of road leading from Coal Grove to new state aid road, the stretch being through the narrow east of Coal Grove. All of the ruts will be taken care of and whatever else is necessary to improve the roadway will be done.

There is a good idea in that for Portsmouth. Why not some of our organizations get together and employ a man whose sole duty it will be to look after our temporary roads and whenever he finds a rut coming, fix it up. One man working steadily can keep all of our temporary roads in good shape.

Now what do you think of this? Doc Hoy, of Wellston, has been engaged by the Redpath Chautauque Company, to fill cancelled dates of lectures on its staff. Doc has already made one speech at East Liverpool. This much can be said of Doc. The first two hours of his speeches are generally pretty interesting. After that most people begin to get a little weary.

As long as John Eckhart had hopes Harry Bannan would get him that job at the penitentiary, it was real lovely to see the two hobnobbing together, with young Doc Sellards' beaming approval, but now that hope is vanished, we find John returned to his old love, and my, the things he thinks.

On form George Osborn's literary bureau ought to win, but we have ever noted that kultur, except of the strong-arm and something green, doesn't get any votes into the ballot box at a gang and anti-gang primary.

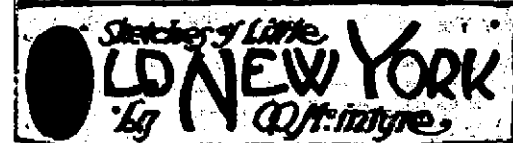

It is said William Billy Gims and, ah, yes, Nate, of course, are talking of hiring one of them literary fellows to write something nice about them too.

A Chicago man is said to have turned down a salary offer of a quarter of a million dollars a year. Place the accent on Chicago and see if you believe it.

Don't talk to us about there being nothing new under the sun. Jackson is threatened with a new enterprise and there must be such a thing for her or else why the threat.

The flood wall bonds have been authorized, but that doesn't mean a flood wall, not this year at least.

All things come to an end. The final vouchers for the bills for constructing the addition to the local postoffice were signed this week, denoting that the government writes the word final on the contract, under which work was begun three years ago, come August.

New York, July 24.—Young D. W. Griffith who is to moving picture productions what Edison is to the world of inventions is getting ready to write, stage, and produce another moving picture marvel as yet unnamed. Griffith comes out of the west—a breath from the prairie—and he is not heckled or bound by any conventions.

One can imagine the producer comfortably ensconced in a deep sea going chair at a mahogany topped desk dictating his plots and ideas to a stenographer on the top floor of one of the mammoth hotels. One can imagine it for his publicity men say he makes $100,000 a year so that means that he makes about $30,000 or as Joe Weber would say in the old days $30,916 in round numbers.

Griffith does nothing of the kind. When he has an itching to write he goes out for a long walk, armed with plenty of pencils and paper, and when he cannot walk any more he drops into the backroom of some little corner saloon. Then he orders a magnum of champagne and he begins to write.

Like O. Henry's stories this one has a kick in the last line and here it is—He does not touch the champagne.

John Pratt, now war correspondent for the Times in France, was with Henry Booth-Noodman the night before the writer was killed by a fall from an army aeroplane. Needham's friends had begged him to stay on the ground but he replied laughingly: "I want to go up in the air in an aeroplane so I can get the atmosphere."

At one of the summer musical shows the other night a young woman—at least she looked young back of the cosmetics—received a $700 floral offering which was so beautiful that the stage manager kept it on the stage during the entire performance.

The gift was about four feet square as to platform and about eight feet high as to plant. Hundreds of the most expensive flowers were used to make it up. The girl who received it shrugged her shoulders and said it was "awfully pretty."

New Wayburn, who knows the chorus girl better than most stage managers, declares that many of the chorus beauties are even disdainful of the principals and stars in the production, considering them beneath their notice. The Stage Duor Johnny is not dead. Automobiles, flowers and the sons of millionaires wait at the stage doors for the pretty chorus girls just as much now as they ever did.

Eddie Wallace Dumit, who scatters publicity about Newspaper Row for George M. Cohan, was standing in the lobby of the Cohan theatre the other night when a fellow with what Broadway terms a "fine young blaze" listed in to the ticket window.

"We have only standing room left," he was told. "It will cost you a dollar."

The wobbly person bought the ticket and disappeared. There were a lot of "standing room" spectators and it was almost impossible to see any of the show. After dodging around a bit, he went over and leaned against the balustrade in deep reflection.

Then he staggered back out in the lobby to the ticket window. "Gimme another one of them standin' rooms," he requested. "I can't see a thing with sea one."

Charles Emerson Cook, long connected with the Bolsofos forces is now living in Arizona where he is the proprietor of stock companies. He is also interested in some oil wells and says that he is through with Broadway. "The wild and woolly appeals to him as being about right."

IF WE ONLY UNDERSTOOD

If we knew the cares and trials,
Knew the efforts all in vain,
And the bitter disappointment,
Understood the loss and gain—
Would the grim eternal anguish
Seem—I wonder—just the same?
Should we help where now we hinder?
Should we pity where we blame?
Ah! we judge each other harshly,
Knowing not life's hidden forces,
Knowing not the fount of action,
Is less turbid as its source:
Seeing not amid the evil
All the golden grains of good;
And we'd love each other better
If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives,
That surround each other's lives,
See the naked heart and spirit,
Know what spur the action gives,
Often we would find it better,
Purer than we judge we should,
We would love each other better
If we only understood.

EYE INJURIES FROM ALKALIES.

(Journal of The American Medical Association)

The daily papers and magazines of the past two years, at home and abroad, have contained numerous instances of more or less serious injuries to the eyes from the explosion of the central rubber bags of some sorts of golf balls, filled with strong solutions of alkalies. Popular attention being in this way drawn to the dangers from alkalies in golf balls, it is well worth recalling the possibility of injuries to the eye from other forms of alkalies.

A boy was busy whitewashing his father's fence when another boy came along and they began to talk together as boys will talk; from talk it was not far to guffing and sport, then came pulling and hauling. In the final struggle for the control of the brush, the friendly boy flung the brush into the working boy's face, in so abundant a fashion that the lime in the whitewash entered one of the eyes and injured it for life, leaving a scar which neither medicine, operation nor treatment can get rid of.

Another injury recently reported is one not so likely to happen to any boy. A boy was so anxious to have his face clean and presentable at dinner that he made up a thick lather and then so completely enveloped his neck, head and face with it that some of the eyes, burning the eye-balls so that the boy was hardly able to see at all. This boy is injured for life owing to his own thoughtlessness. If he or his parents had attended any public health lectures on the care of the eyes, they would have understood the risks of using strong alkalies near the eyes in any fashion.

Up to date nobody has suggested that a German spy was responsible for the series of fires that threaten to wipe Ironton off the map.

The least that can be said of Auditor Donahay's figures is they will hold our good young Governor for awhile.

Reading the telegraph headlines one can well imagine the sent of warfare has been transplanted to Bayonne, N. J., and the ghastly slaughter along with it.

Who Wants to Buy a Little Devil?
Some people do not believe in devils, but there are such things, and one of them, a very mischievous one, got into a folding bed with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Erwood at Huntington the other night. He kept quiet until Mr. Erwood decided to get up at six o'clock the next morning and then he devilishly pushed that folding bed together, with Mr. and Mrs. Erwood upside down, or rather feet up and head down. Both the prisoners yelled lustily for help but none came. After an hour the woman in the bed extricated herself and then freed her husband, discomfiting the nasty little devil. But we understand both husband and wife have taken a violent antipathy to that harmless folding bed and absolutely refuse to sleep in it again. One of the Huntington papers says the little devil goes with it.—Gallia Tribune.

COMPLETE TEXT OF UNITED STATES NOTE TO GERMANY

Washington, July 24.—Following is the official text of the latest note to Germany regarding submarine warfare which was delivered in the foreign office at Berlin yesterday by Ambassador Gerard.

You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the Imperial German government, dated the eighth of July, 1915, has received the careful consideration of the government of the United States, and it regrets to be obliged to say that it has found it very unsatisfactory, because it fails to meet the real differences between the two governments and indicates no way in which the accepted principles of law and humanity may be applied in the grave matter in controversy, but proposes, on the contrary, arrangements for a partial suspension of those principles, which virtually set them aside.

"The government of the United States notes with satisfaction that the Imperial German government recognizes without reservation the validity of the principles insisted on in the several communications which this government has addressed to the Imperial Government with regard to its announcement of a war zone and the use of submarines against merchantmen on the high seas—the principle that the high seas are free, that the character and cargo of merchantmen must first be ascertained before they can lawfully be seized or destroyed and that the lives of non-combatants may in no case be put in jeopardy unless to escape after being summoned to submit to examination; for a belligerent act of retaliation is per se an act beyond the law, and the defense of an act as retaliatory is an admission that it is illegal.

"The government of the United States is, however, keenly disappointed to find that the Imperial government regards itself as in large degree exempt from the obligation to observe these principles, even where neutral vessels are concerned; by what it believes the policy and practice of the government of Great Britain to be in the present war with regard to neutral commerce. This Imperial German government will readily understand that the government of the United States cannot discuss the policy of the government of Great Britain with regard to neutral trade, except with that government itself, and that it must regard the conduct of other belligerent governments as irrelevant to any discussion with the Imperial German government of what this government regards as grave and justifiable violation of the rights of American citizens by German naval commanders. Illegal and inhuman acts, however justifiable they may be thought to be against an enemy who is believed to have acted in contravention of law and humanity, are manifestly indefensible when they deprive neutrals of their acknowledged rights, particularly when they violate the right to life itself.

"If a belligerent cannot retaliate against an enemy without injuring the lives of neutrals, as well as their property, as humanity as well as justice, and a due regard for the dignity of neutral powers should dictate that the practice be discontinued. If persisted in, it would in such circumstances constitute an unpardonable offense against the sovereignty of the neutral nation affected. The government of the United States is not unmindful of the extraordinary conditions created by this war, or of the radical alterations of circumstances and method of attack produced by the instrumentalities of naval warfare which the nations of the world cannot have had in view when the existing rules of international law were formulated, and it is ready to make every reasonable allowance for these novel and unexpected aspects of war at sea; but it cannot consent to abate any essential or fundamental right of its people, because of a mere alteration of circumstance. The rights of neutrals in time of war are based upon principle, not upon expediency, and the principles are immutable. It is the duty and obligation of belligerents to find a way to adapt the new circumstance to them.

"The events of the past two months have clearly indicated that it is possible and practicable to conduct such submarine operations as have characterized the activity of the Imperial German navy within the so-called war zone in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare. The whole world has looked with interest and increasing satisfaction at the demonstration of that possibility by German naval commanders. It is manifestly possible, therefore, to life the whole practice of submarine attack above the criticism which it has aroused and remove the chief causes of offense.

"In view of the admission of illegality made by the Imperial government when it pleaded the right of retaliation in defense of its acts, and in view of the manifest possibility of conforming to the established rules of naval warfare, the government of the United States cannot believe that the Imperial Government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton act of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania, or from offering reparation for the American lives lost, so far as reparation can be made for a needless destruction of human life by an illegal act.

"The government of the United States, while not indifferent to the friendly spirit in which it is made, can not accept the suggestion of the Imperial German government that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall be free on the seas, now illegally proscribed. The very agreement would, by implication, subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment of the principles for which this government contends and which in times of calmer councils every nation would concede as of course.

"The government of the United States and the Imperial German government are contending for the same great object, have long stood together in urging the very principles upon which the government of the United States now so solemnly insists. They are both contending for the freedom of the seas. The government of the United States will continue to contend for that freedom, from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost. It invites the practical co-operation of the Imperial German government at this time when co-operation may accomplish most and this great common object be most strikingly and effectively achieved.

"The Imperial German government expresses the hope that this object may be in some measure accomplished even before the present war ends. It can be. The government of the United States not only feels obliged to insist upon it, by whomsoever violated or ignored, in the protection of its own citizens, but is also deeply interested in seeing it made practicable between the belligerents themselves, and holds itself ready at any time to act as the common friend who may be privileged to suggest a way.

"In the meantime the very value which this government sets upon the long and unbroken friendship between the people and government of the United States and the people and government of the Imperial German nation impels it to press very solemnly upon the Imperial German government the necessity for a scrupulous observance of neutral rights in this critical matter. Friendship itself prompts it to say to the Imperial government that repetition by the commanders of the German naval vessels of acts in contravention of those rights must be regarded by the government of the United States when they affect American citizens as deliberately unfriendly."

THE CRYSTAL PALACE WILL OPEN TONIGHT

With everything in apple pie order, five shining bowling alleys, eight pocket billiard tables, and all the accessories necessary for the satisfaction of man, the "Crystal Palace," Portsmouth's newest amusement house, will be thrown open to the public this evening by the proprietor, Louis Distel. The "Crystal Palace," and it is rightly named, is located on East Gallia street, opposite Flood and Blake's drug store and the people of the East End have a right to feel proud over their latest enterprise.

In the first place everything is brand new. The building was erected to meet every demand. It is 157 feet deep, and 80 feet wide, a fire proof construction, and one admirably arranged to accommodate the various amusement devices.

In the rear five new bowling alleys glisten under the rays of hundreds of electric lights. These alleys, installed by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, of Cincinnati, are fast and true and no doubt many records will be made upon their smooth surface. New mottled mineralite balls, the bowling ball's delight, repose upon the return tracks, and so bored to fit the grip of all the ten pin artists. On Monday evening, the Wanless Wonders will meet in battle Fredger's Primroses in a three game match at ten pins. While this match is being pulled off, two teams will be battling for the supremacy at duck pins. Come out and see the fun.

Entering the big spacious building, one's eyes can be filled completely at one glance. Eight new pocket billiard tables, perfectly arranged, make one fairly itchy to get hold of a cue stick and try his skill. The tables are of massive design, and the cloth smooth and true. The click of the ivory will be heard tonight at the opening when the proprietor, Mr. Distel, turns on the current.

To the right is a highly ornamented back stand, where ice cream sodas will be served. Then comes the cigar stand, followed by the lunch counter. Mr. Distel has installed one of the very latest steaming closers, a sanitary arrangement. Lockers have been installed and everything provided for the comfort of patrons.

Mr. Distel is to be commended for his enterprise. He has invested a considerable sum of money, but there is no question but the "Crystal Palace" will be freely and liberally patronized. Mr. Distel has never been connected with a losing venture. He is a hustler from the word go, popular and deserving. Some rare sport is bound to result at the "Crystal Palace," one of the best constructed and best equipped amusement centers in the country.

The Movies

Charlie Chaplin in a New Two Reel Feature At the Lyric Today

Our funny friend Charlie will be on the program today at the Lyric in one of the funniest pictures ever made "Mabel At the Wheel." It is a brand new picture and the entire 2000 feet of it is all hearty laughter. "Brago's Double," one of those class two reel Essanay dramas, is also showing today. This is a great story, featuring Sheldon Lewis and Nell Craig. An Edison comedy will be shown this afternoon also.

Don't forget "The Goddess" on Monday. Everybody is highly pleased with this wonderful picture which grows more and more interesting every week. You are missing something extra good if you don't join the crowd that is enjoying it. If you have missed the other "chapters" you can start Monday with chapter six. There is a synopsis of preceding chapters at the beginning of this week's installment. Charlie Chaplin in a "new" comedy will be shown Monday also, making a crackerjack four reel show.

Charlie Chaplin in "Laughing Gas" At Arcana Theatre Today

Charlie Chaplin, who has made millions laugh and scream, will be seen at the Arcana Theatre today in his latest success, entitled "Laughing Gas." This is without a doubt one of the most laughable plays ever produced and you want to be sure and see the fun. In addition to the Charlie Chaplin feature, Manager Potts will produce a two-reel attraction, "The Pursuit Drama." This is a strong, clean drama of sterling worth. It is full of climaxes and interesting from beginning to end. As a third feature, Manager Potts will show a Joker comedy, entitled "Soup." This production is second only to Chaplin features. The new gold-fiber screen makes all the pictures at the Arcana life-like, as well as clear and distinct. The admission is only 5 cents and you are assured of all the comforts a high-class theater provides. Be an Arcana Booster—you'll be boosting a live one.

ALBERTA GOES DRY

Edmonton, Alberta, July 24.—The province of Alberta was voted dry at the election here several days ago. Complete returns received today indicate that the vote to exclude saloons was about 2 to 1.

All the cities voted dry except Lethbridge. Edmonton went dry by 3,600 and Calgary by about 3,300. The saloons will go on July 1 next.

A BLUE TAFFETA AFTERNOON GOWN

Ruel Starts On New Bridge, Doesn't Want Any Donations

Active work of driving piling for a new temporary bridge across the Snioto river, was started by Henry Ruel Saturday morning. Some delay will be experienced, however, in securing all material, and it will require fully ten days to complete this structure. Mr. Ruel hopes to finish the job about the middle of week after next.

The contribution of the mayor to aid Mr. Ruel in rapidly restoring the bridge has been declined by him, with the following letter:

Hon. Adam Erick, Mayor, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date, enclosing your personal check for $10.00.

I note your kind expression of sympathy, as well as your kindly offering, but desire to say, however, that I have not intimated to anyone that I was a subject of Charity. I can assure you that I have never in the past, and will not now, accept personal alms from anyone.

The County Commissioners are fully aware of the facts and circumstances that have contributed to my loss. The matter is wholly between me and the County Commissioners.

I have done my best to maintain my several temporary bridges, but I will shoulder my full obligations without charity from anyone.

Enclosed you will find your check for $10.00 payable to my order. With thanks for your offering, I am,

Very Truly Yours,
HENRY B. RUEL.

DISCUSS RELATIONS

Rome, Via Paris, July 24.—The Italian cabinet meeting yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the relations between Italy and Turkey, according to the Giornale D'Italia. The ministers will hold other sessions this morning and this evening.

ARREST MINISTER FOR OLD CRIME

Covington, Ga., July 24.—The Rev. W. H. McCall is in jail here today charged with killing Monroe Smith, near Covington, more than 45 years ago. Smith, it is alleged, struck McCall's mother and was killed a few days later. McCall left here shortly afterward and went west where he became a minister. He returned here on a visit to relatives and his arrest followed.

Making Money

There are very few ways in which money can be made easily, in substantial amounts, safely. Surprisingly few routes that do not risk disaster.

Plain work; work, work and saving is the surest way. But this involves long years and good health; and even then something must be done with those accumulated savings. It is not even safe to bury them, unless we bury ourselves with them.

About the surest, safest plan for all of those of us whom Lincoln called "the good common people," is to invest some of our earnings in a newly opened town lot addition, provided prices are reasonable, or very low, and the location and future promise of the property looks favorable. After careful consideration and consultation with sensible people, whose judgment we believe is good and unprejudiced. Ask any such person what their opinion is of the chances for a rapid increase in the values of the improved Idlewild property, just one square east of Millbrook Lake, after they have looked it over today or Sunday.

Officers Installed

Installation of officers was held Friday night by the Knights of Maccocks, Tent No. 404, as follows:

Commander, Elmer Harris; lieutenant commander, John Maunel; master of arms, George Floyd; chaplain, Kinney Yates; sergeant, Noble Black; first master of guards, Harold Martin; second master of guards, Wesley Harris; sentinel, Albert Holberg; picket, Otto Davis.

District Organizer Robert Cux, of Lancaster, conducted the installation exercises. Mr. Cox gave an entertaining report of the national convention held in San Francisco, and also reported that three more counties, which includes Portsmouth, had been added to his territory. His headquarters are at Lancaster.

The next meeting, August 6, will be held in the new hall, Sixth and Chillicothe streets, formerly known as the Eagles' hall. The interior has been entirely renovated.

SAYS GERMANY WON'T STOP SUBMARINE WAR

Berlin, Via London, July 24.—The American note was not published in this morning's Berlin newspapers but probably will appear in the afternoon editions.

Count Ernst Von Reventlow in an article in the Tages Zeitung headed "Underground Anxieties" declares that no matter what the note contains, the submarine campaign will not be restricted. So far as the German empire is concerned, he says, there can be no further question of its attitude. Germany's stand has been taken. Count Von Reventlow asserts, and it will be maintained.

The Lokal Anzeiger says the contents of the American note does not preclude the possibility of further negotiations between Washington and Berlin.

When Optimism Vanishes. "I believe in optimism, all right," said Sackville McKnutt, "and I practice it as long as I can after receiving my pay envelope, but what I want to know is how can I see anything rosy after I have given my last dollar for a tip to the waiter who is making more money than I am."—Kansas City Star.

RUSSIANS BURN EVERYTHING AS THEY FLEE RIGA

The Russians are destroying everything in the path of the advancing Germans. All villages, farms, forests, bridges, crops and cattle in the territory the Germans have already occupied have either been destroyed or removed by the Russians.

Travelers from Riga say that fires in the various towns which resulted from Russian torches were seen from Gottland.

"BUY OHIO COAL" AND AID MANY DESTITUTE

Columbus, O., July 24.—"Buying and improperly clad for Ohio Coal."

This is the slogan for a campaign started recently in Athens and gradually spread over the state, which was called to the attention of Governor Willis today. He commented favorably as a means of remedying conditions in the Ohio coal fields, where thousands of miners are idle as a result of loss of business by Ohio operators.

John M. Roan, state mining commissioner, brought news of the movement to show Ohio coal preference to the governor after an inspection tour of the Southern Ohio and Hocking Valley fields. He told how hundreds of women and children, dependent on coal miners, have been starved and improperly clad for months because there is no work and no money to buy food and clothing.

"I went into a grocery store in the Hocking region," said Mr. Roan. "The proprietor was idle. He had nothing to do because he had nothing to sell. His shelves were so bare I could have carried his stock in my arms. He was in as bad a shape as many miners. That is only a typical example of sad conditions in the Hocking coal field."

Both miners and operators ascertained that if Ohio people when they order winter coal insist that the dealers furnish coal mined in this state, business will improve temporarily and the conditions of poverty among miners' families will be alleviated.

Later the miners and operators plan to unite in fighting for a lowering of rates charged by railroads for hauling Ohio coal. A complaint against these rates filed by miners is now pending before the public utilities commission.
